U. S. NAVY PRESSES ATTACK ON PALAU

RAF SENDS BIG BOMBER FORCE TO NUERNBERG

95 Planes Lost Out of Armada Numbering Possibly 1,000.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 31 — A great armada of RAF bombers numbering probably more than 1,000 smashed at the southern German transport center and Nazi congress city of Nuernberg and other points in the reich last night at a cost of 95 planes — the heaviest toll ever taken of an allied air fleet in a single operation.

The record loss was announced just as the entire German network with the exception of Vienna in old Austria shut down this morning shortly after the warning that "enemy planes are approaching." The first German warnings said the daylight raiders were over Hessen-Nassau province in Prussia in which Frankfurt is situated.

The RAF's announced loss, which contrasted to German claims of having inflicted the greatest defeat of the war on the British air force with the shooting down of 132 four-engined bombers, was incurred in the 17th heavy bomber operation in March by the British air fleet.

The big attack force, probably was one of the largest ever sent out, the daylight raiders streaking over the reich, and a huge fleet—largest of heavy bombers ever to strike a target from the Mediterranean—which raided Sofia in Bulgaria yesterday wound up the biggest month in the European air war.

The attack on Nuernberg—scene of Nazi party rallies and peacetime center of the toy industry—was the ninth on that city.

It was carried out while British intruders ranged over the continent shooting up airfields in France, the low countries and Germany itself and while a small force of German raiders was giving London its first alert in three nights.

The official description of the Nuernberg raid as in "very great strength" suggested that in the neighborhood of 2,240 short (U.S.) tons of bombs had fallen on the city. The city was hit in force Aug. 27, 1943.

The city is one of the most important rail and industrial centers of southern Germany, the site of such warplants as the M.A.N. diesel engine works, the Faun motor works, the Siemens-Schuckert electrical works and other plants turning out tanks, armored vehicles, aircraft components,

Return To Fast Time Is Set for Midnight Sunday

The payoff on that hour's snooze that Marionites collected on last fall when clocks were turned back an hour comes Sunday night when the tables will be turned and the city goes back on Eastern War time for the summer. The changeover is scheduled for Sunday midnight.

Little confusion is anticipated with the change of time. Clocks will be moved ahead one hour and schedules will go on the same as usual. School hours will be the same as will those in stores, industries and business places in general.

Big Ben atop the courthouse will be stepped up to conform with the time change and clocks in the city will again be "caught up" with those in bus stations and at the union depot. Folks having favorite radio programs will have to remember the "hour later" schedule and not blame the radio if they tune in at 5:45 p. m. and fail to hear Lowell Thomas. Persons having to make trains or buses will breathe a sigh of relief at not having to figure "double time" and a few more words may be added to letters with a "spare" hour to make the mailing deadline.

Clocks were turned back an hour the first Sunday of last October when the city council put its OK on the measure. A major factor in making the change was to avoid having children enroute to school in the early morning darkness. A majority of cities and towns in the state, adopting the slow time last fall are stepping up to fast time for the summer months.

In order to check in on time next Monday morning the safest bet is to "up" the clock one hour before retiring Sunday night.

The county commissioners said they weren't personally in favor of the time change, but would have the courthouse clock moved to avoid confusion. To conform with state law, the clocks in the county offices where official papers are filed will remain on slow time.

Soldier Vote Bill Becomes Law Without President's Signature

Roosevelt Considers Measure Inadequate To Assure Voting Privileges To Service Men in November.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—President Roosevelt notified congress today he was letting the service vote bill become law without his signature even though he considered it "wholly inadequate" in providing service men and women an opportunity to ballot.

The chief executive sent a message to Capitol Hill announcing his intention to let the controversial measure become law at midnight tonight.

In it, he appealed to the states to cooperate in making the bill as "fully effective as its defestive provisions will allow."

The measure would let service men and women overseas vote with federal ballots but only if they had applied for state ballots by Sept. 1 and did not receive them by Oct. 1. In addition, the governors of their states would have to certify that the ballots were authorized by state law.

Results of Poll

In a poll of all the governors, Mr. Roosevelt had learned that at least 20 states planned to do nothing about authorizing use of supplementary federal ballots, that 19 would permit their use or probably would, and that 9 were non-committal.

The Chief Executive also appealed to congress "to take more adequate action to protect the political rights of our men and women in the service."

He asked that the measure which he was allowing to become law be amended so as to permit all persons in uniform who have not received state ballots by an appropriate date, regardless of whether they have applied formally for them, to use the federal ballot without prior express authorization by the states.

States' Responsibility

"If the states do not accept the federal ballot," Mr. Roosevelt declared, "that will be their responsibility. Under this bill, that responsibility is shared by the congress.

"Our boys on the battle fronts must not be denied an opportunity to vote simply because they are away from home. They are at the front fighting with their lives to defend our rights and our freedoms. We must assure them their rights and freedoms at home so that they will have a fair share in determining the kind of life to which they will return."

Earlier Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee had predicted relatively few men overseas would get to vote in November. Most congressional leaders had anticipated the President's action in letting the bill become law without his signature.

Mr. Roosevelt termed provisions of the bill confusing and said it was difficult to know what its practical effect would be in operation. He said it was impossible for him to determine whether more service men and women would be able to vote under it than under existing law. The determination will depend largely, he asserted, on the extent to which state cooperate to make the bill as effective as its provisions permit.

"In view of this situation," he told the legislators, "I have re-

BRITISH LOSE BASE IN BURMA

Tiddim, 100 Miles from Imphal, Lost As Japs Drive Into India.

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, March 31—British forces have surrendered Tiddim, their forward base in the Chin hills of Burma, 100 miles below Imphal, Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, British commander in India, told the Indian legislature today.

The disclosure was made almost simultaneously with the announcement in a communique from Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten that Japanese jungle parties spread over a front of nearly 200 miles were persistently probing deeper into eastern India's defenses and had penetrated into the main communications of the vital Manipur plain.

Auchinleck declared, however, Imphal itself was strongly defended and declared such penetration was not likely to be of major importance.

At the same time, he announced, British forces fighting their way north from Tiddim through Japanese road blocks had joined other British forces which fought their way southward along the road from Imphal.

Break Main Road

Admiral Mountbatten's communique said one raiding party broke through to the main road running north from Imphal, capital of Manipur state, to Kohima, 60 miles to the north, and although this party was forced away after it had damaged a bridge and carried out some ambushes till other Japanese were able to lay down mortar fire on the highway.

Another Japanese infiltration party was reported north of Kohima, striking at the communications of that center on the road to the Brahmaputra valley and the main allied supply system.

Japanese pressure remained heavy on the Tiddim road, 24 miles southeast of Imphal.

The Japanese last were reported halfway between Palel and Tamu on the Burma border, 48 miles from the Manipur capital.

While air-borne commandos raided the airfield of Aniskan and destroyed an aircraft, British and American aviators carried out 850 sorties, losing but one plane.

Auchinleck Confident

The Japanese gains in the border area were made despite the reassuring statement by Gen. Auchinleck declaring the enemy invasion carried no threat to India and that British forces were determined to hold the advance base of Imphal.

He conceded, however, temporary interruption of communications might take place.

(The Tokyo radio declared the Imphal - Kohima highway had been cut 25 miles north of Imphal.

JAPS GIVE UP RIGHTS TO RED OIL, COAL LEASE

Cancellation of Agreement Due To Expire in 1970 Seen As Blow to Tokyo.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 31—The Japanese government received today a staggering blow from the west when the Soviet government announced it had signed a protocol under which Tokyo agreed to surrender her oil and coal leases on northern Sakhalin island in the Pacific.

The Russian contracted to furnish Japan with 50,000 tons of oil a year for five years beginning after the war.

The Soviet Union also will pay Japan 5,000,000 rubles (about $950,000) under terms of the protocol signed yesterday. Japan promised to hand over to Russia all property, including equipment, material and food, which belongs to Japanese concessionaries in northern Sakhalin.

Island Ownership Divided

Japan owns the southern half of the island and Russia the north half. The oil and coal leases originally ran until 1970.

Under the protocol, Tokyo is forced to reduce by 26 years its concessions to these vital materials of war and return the wells and coal mines immediately to the Soviet Union.

The oil and coal rights were yielded to Japan in 1925 for a 45-year period.

The official announcement of the protocol said:

"In the spring of 1941 during negotiations on the conclusion of the Soviet - Japanese neutrality pact, the Soviet government raised the question of liquidation of the above mentioned concessions. * * * The Japanese promised to solve the question no later than six months after the signature of the neutrality pact. This pledge was not fulfilled by the Japanese side. As a result of this present agreement, the Japanese concessions in northern Sakhalin are ended 26 years before the fixed term."

(The Moscow newspaper Izvestia was quoted in a broadcast as saying that Russia in her dealings with Japan gave "consideration of the special circumstances in the military situation prevailing in the Pacific for our allies.")

Only last night, the Russians announced renewal of an agreement granting Japan fishing privileges in far eastern waters for five more years.

The Russians will supply Japan with oil from the Okhinsky fields after the war. The Soviets promised the Japanese free export of oil and coal from storerooms in the concessioned territory in northern Sakhalin. Actual transfer of the stored oil and coal is to start within five days.

The agreement, signed by Solomon Lozevsky, Russian vice commissar for foreign affairs, and Nautake Sato, Japanese ambassador, became effective immediately.

(The view in London was that Japan's surrender of the Sakhalin concessions so far ahead of

Ohio's 37th Division Ranks Among Best of World War II

Here, for the first time, is the full story of how Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler took a lot of Ohioans and whipped them into a crack division, and then led them personally in the bloody battles of the southwest Pacific. The division, the 37th, included companies from this section of Ohio.

(Distributed by The Associated Press)

WITH THE 37TH DIVISION IN BOUGAINVILLE—It's a long way from the farms and cities of Ohio to the battlefields of Munda and Bougainville.

This is how the 37th division, pride of Ohio, traveled that road with its commander, Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, guiding the way.

And the record of the 37th division in the bitter campaign for the Munda airfield in New Georgia and in this action here in Bougainville speaks for itself, for its commanding general and for the men who make the organization the crack Army division that it is today.

It wasn't easy — building a smoothly operating, powerful combat team of all the infantry arms.

No one will ever know the perplexing problems that confronted General Beightler Oct. 15, 1940, the day the Ohio National Guard became part of the Army of the United States. It was a critical time and the 51-year-old former state highway director of Ohio knew that upon him rested the job of whipping his skeleton division into such a state of training that it could take the field against the enemies of the United States in a few months.

THE MAPS ABOVE show the location of points in the Pacific area which figure in two major news developments today. They are the Palau Islands, Japanese possession only a few hundred miles from the Philippines, and Sakhalin Island, partly owned by Russia and Japan. The powerful Palau Japanese naval base is under attack by American warships, closest to the Philippines the U. S. forces have struck thus far. Sakhalin Island's place in the news results from Japan's agreement to surrender to Russia her coal and oil leases on the northern half of the island. In the map, the light northern half is the part owned by Russia, and the Japanese half is black. Inset map at top left shows the Palau Islands in detail.

$7,163 NEEDED IN FUND DRIVE

Red Cross Subscriptions To Be Received at Store Booths.

A report meeting last night in Red Cross headquarters revealed that $7,163.86 is still needed for Marion county to reach its war fund drive quota.

A total of $48,836.14 has been received to date and drive officials hope the balance can be received through the booths which are being operated today and tomorrow in a number of downtown stores. Arrangements have also been completed for donations to be received by employes in various other places of business.

The booths, in charge of volunteer workers under Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer, will be in Uhler's, Frank Brothers, J. C. Penney Co. and Henney and Cooper stores. Contributions will also be accepted by personnel at the Marion banks, gas, water and electric company offices and the Turoff and Midway restaurants.

An Appeal To All

This plan will afford everyone an equal chance to contribute and an appeal is being made to all Marion families to give something if they haven't already done so and for those who have contributed to add as much more as they can.

Individual reports last night were as follows: special gifts, $4,056; large industries, $6,053.22; small industries, $2,424; national stores, $1,239; professional, $1,223; uptown retail, $2,717.50; residential, First Ward, Mrs. W. E. Buckingham, $2,963.68; Second, Mrs. Nelson Irvin, $2,291.69; Third, Mrs. E. W. Koeppen, $1,662.70; Fourth, Mrs. A. G. Birch, $3,007.26; Fifth, Mrs. Harold Meister, $3,-

GERMANS OCCUPY HILLS AT CASSINO

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, March 31—German troops have moved into two positions on Monastery hill evacuated several days ago by Indian and New Zealand troops and small enemy groups have attacked inside Cassino, it was announced today, but air operations again overshadowed ground activities.

On the Anzio beachhead, 65 casualties resulted when German planes bombed an allied hospital area, headquarters said.

Fifth army forces clinging to positions inside battered Cassino repulsed the new German thrusts and inflicted severe losses on the attackers, it was announced. Nazi tanks again appeared near the fortified Continental hotel but allied artillery brought them under heavy fire.

Last Day for Use of Old Plates Spurs Sales of New Ones

Several hundred persons visited the Marion auto license office on West Church street yesterday as the deadline tonight for the use of 1943 licenses neared. It was one of the busiest days so far in the sale of 1944 plates, but today's business was expected to be even larger, James E. Messenger, deputy registrar, said.

The office will be open from 7 to 9 tonight to accommodate late comers.

Sales up to this morning in Marion totaled 5,939, or 21 ahead of the number on the next to the last day a year ago, Mr. Messenger said.

The Associated Press reported that no eleventh hour rush for license plates was developing this year but sales were expected to be about the same as in 1943 for Ohio, despite further cuts in gasoline rations. Ohio license sales in 1943 totaled 2,292,720.

SOVIETS FORCE PRUT CROSSING

First Ukranian Army Drives Toward Rumanian and Hungarian Border.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 31—Surging across the northern Prut river through captured Czernowitz, Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First Ukrainian army is moving up into the Carpathian mountains toward Hungary and Rumania, dispatches from the front declared today.

Zhukov's vanguards rolled through Delatyn, 15 miles north of the Hungarian border where the pass of the Tatars leads through the Carpathians into former Czechoslovakian territory given to Hungary when Hitler dismembered the Czecho - Slovak state. After routing the German defenders of Czernowitz, Zhukov's troops pushed on south through Storozhints, 15 miles north of the present Rumania border.

Second Army Poised

The Second Ukrainian army, commanded by Marshal Ivan S. Konev, remained poised on the east bank of the Prut where it forms the frontier of Rumania.

For five days Konev has held his forces on the Bessarabian side of the Prut, mopping up isolated groups of German and Rumanian troops and has extended Russian domination of the east bank to a distance of 80 miles. The border town of Lipcani, 40 miles east of Czernowitz, was captured.

Some 2,000 Hitlerites were annihilated in the forests near Mynkovtsy, 28 miles northeast of Kamenets Podolsk, and many prisoners were taken, the communique said, while capture of Kitaigorod all but wiped out the Kamenets Podolsk pocket through which Germans retreating from the Proskurov sector have been trying to escape.

Odessa Under Pressure

Further east Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian army intensified its pressure on Odessa, last German-held port in the Ukraine near the mouth of the Dniester river.

Advances up to 20 miles were reported by the Soviet communique. Among the more than 250 towns captured was Turchanoye, west of Nikolaev and only 47 miles from Odessa.

The Russian drive through Delatyn toward the Carpathians carried spearheads of Zhukov's forces 19 miles southwest of Kolomea in a single day, these advices said.

MISSISSIPPI ON RAMPAGE

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, March 31 — Two companies of the Mississippi state guard were on the job today to aid evacuation in flooded areas, but fair weather and a downward revision of flood crest estimates promised a let-up from rising waters that took at least nine lives in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi.

JAP WARSHIPS FLEE BEFORE ATTACK BEGINS

Strongly Defended Base 600 Miles from Philippines Now Under Fire.

By The Associated Press

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, March 31 — Roaring defiance within 600 statute miles of the Philippines, masses of American warships opened the war's first attack Wednesday on the powerful Japanese naval base of Palau, and Nipponese naval units there, forewarned by planes of the armada's approach, deserted the area in flight.

"Our attacks continue," announced Adm. Chester W. Nimitz in phraseology recalling first disclosure of the overwhelming two-day carrier plane strike Feb. 16-17 on Truk, 1,175 miles east of Palau.

It seemed likely this deepest penetration on the road back to the Philippines was made by aircraft carrier task forces at least equal in size to those which dealt such heavy plane and naval losses to Japan at Truk and, a few days later, ripped apart the air defenses of Saipan, Tinian and Guam in the Marianas.

Admiral Nimitz' communique yesterday stated that "strong Pacific fleet forces, at dawn Wednesday, 29th of March (west longitude U. S. date) initiated attacks on Japanese-held Palau Island."

Strong U. S. Force

The fact that Japanese warships at Palau, at the west end of the Carolines, "were observed fleeing the area before our units could reach attack positions" indicated the attacking armada's impressive size. At Truk, in the Marianas and now at Palau, the United States Navy has moved boldly afar from home bases into long fortified nests of the enemy, fairly spoiling for a fight with Japan's elusive fleet.

Admiral Nimitz said Nipponese search planes from New Guinea helped spot the task force's approach, which may mean the Navy swung south of the Carolines to get at Palau. That would put the task forces in waters adjacent to the south-southwest Pacific command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

(There was strong suggestion the air arms of MacArthur and Nimitz acted in coordination to shatter possible enemy plane interference along the route to Palau. Tuesday, United States time, MacArthur's bombers made their first appearance in the Carolines, hitting Woleai midway between Palau and Truk. Tuesday, South Pacific bombers dealt a devastating blow at Truk's air strength. Then Wednesday night, after the Palau attack had opened, Central Pacific Liberators of the Seventh Air Force gave Truk a going over).

Jap Singapore

The scores of small islands making up Palau have been transformed into "Japan's Singapore" since they, the rest of the Carolines and all of the Marshalls were taken over by Japan from Germany, in 1914.

The town of Korkor, south of Palau's biggest island of Babelthuap, is administrative center for the 1,500 Caroline islands. Palau's southernmost island of Anguar is one huge phosphate mine, eight square miles in area, and its phosphates are shipped to Japan for munitions making.

The communique indicated one purpose of the strike at Palau was to trap enemy fighting ships; another apparently was to scout one of the enemy's primary defense positions protecting the conquered Philippines and to inflict damage while doing so.

Palau has two anchorages: Schonian and Malakal harbors.

COLLETT IS TAKEN TO PRISON TODAY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31—James W. Collett, swinging a large Bible in his right hand, entered Ohio penitentiary today as a man doomed to die for murder.

The convicted slayer of the Elmer McCoy family at Washington C. H. last Thanksgiving eve faltered as the gates swung open for him, and then walked steadily inside.

He turned to newsmen at the gate, saying:

"They may destroy my body and my mind, but not my soul."

Collett, a slight, 60-year-old well-to-do Clinton county hog breeder, is under sentence to be electrocuted July 26, but appeals from his conviction are certain to grant him longer life.

He entered the mid-town prison at 10:10 a. m., exactly one hour after he was taken from the Fayette county jail at Washington

Half asleep, you grope out the front door for the newspaper. Suddenly you're not sleepy.

"Hey," you shout, "we've invaded Europe!"

Just like that—invasion. One day everything is quiet; the next, thousands of men, planes and ships have pussy-footed into Europe out of nowhere.

Military and Naval authorities wish fervently it were as easy as that. It isn't.

Plotting Takes Months

An invasion may be the start of a campaign lasting months. The invasion itself is the result of months of intensive an meticulous preparation by all branches of the Army and Navy.

High ranking staff officers hold long sessions behind closed doors. They pour over Commando raid data . . . probe for soft spots on invasion shores . . . scrutinize weather maps, terrain maps, flight photographs of the area and its fortifications.

Logistics (the science of supply) are of tremendous importance. An army is never better than its supply system.

And the fighting and service forces—how many troops are to be employed? What will be the proportion of ground troops to air troops, and how many of the ground forces will be armored units, infantry, artillery? What number of service troops will be required to maintain the combat troops?

Men, Munitions, Machines

Before an invasion there must be figured the amount of equipment, supplies and transportation necessary to support the personnel.

In the North African invasion 700,000 different items of supplies and equipment were required. Each soldier got 390 different items of clothing and individual equipment. The Signal corps was supplied 10,000 diffefent items: Medical department, 68,000; Engineer corps, 100,000; Ordnance department, 250,000.

After initial requirements comes the tremendous problem of troop maintenance in the field. For example, for every 100 men 17 pairs of shoes must be shipped each month.

Ammunition requirements of a task force also are tremendous. An infantry division in a normal day expends 300 tons of ammunition; 100 37 mm. antiaircraft guns require 127.5 tons of ammunition a day; gasoline is used at the average of 10 gallons a day per vehicle.

African Invasion Was Practice

Shipping . . . the North African invasion required seven tons of shipping per man for initial equipment and one and one-half ship tons a man a month was necessary to maintain the supply.

Although the North African venture was one of the largest, if not the largest invasion in world history, the opening of the second front will be of such greater magnitude that African logistics cannot be applied to the BIG show.

Shortly before invasion day will come a "softening up." Bombers will pound rail communications behind the coast with double fury to disrupt supplies of men and material. A few days later fighter-bombers will take to the air and set upon the Luftwaffe and its airfields to obliterate sky opposition.

Curtains of Fire Protect Men

Come "D" day, naval-ships will throw a sheet of hurtling steel and fire to tear asunder and confuse the coast defenders. Then infantrymen will clamber into landing barges and the invasion will be under way.

After the first landing, the second and third waves will carry more infantrymen, medical and signal corps units who must immediately establish radio contact between fighters, ships off shore and reconnaissance and bomber planes above.

The instant the beachhead has been gained, armored forces—tanks, artillery, antiaircraft—must tear onto the beach to reinforce the foot soldiers. All have their part to perform and the time to begin it. One must not fail the other.

NEW AIRLINER IS BUILT BY BRITISH

Big Four-Engine Ship To Be Used After War.

By International News Service

LONDON — A prototype of a new British airliner for post-war passenger and freight traffic has just been built by the Handley Page Aircraft Co.

The new British airliner is a sister machine to the famed Halifax bomber, and many of the warplane's features are incorporated in its design.

Has Four Engines

Powered by four radial engines, the new airliner has a cruising speed of over 200 MPH and a top speed of nearly 300 MPH. It is equipped with a larger fuselage than the Halifax bomber and has a range of 2,000 miles with 50 passengers.

As a freighter, the new British aircraft can carry eight tons, with a range of 1,350 miles. It will be able to cross the Atlantic summer or winter, and will have a sealed oxygen-fed cabin for travel in the sub-stratosphere.

Tests Successful

The new airliner, which has not yet been given a name, will join the other all-British post-war transport aircraft, the 100-ton Brabazon plane, which the Bristol Airplane Co. is producing, and the 32-ton Tudor, built by Avro's.

The new Handley Page civil plane will be just as much a sister aircraft to the Halifax as the Avro York is to the Lancaster bomber.

Preliminary tests of the new aircraft have been highly successful.

Century of Family Service in Waldo Postoffice Will End with Postmaster Gabler's Retirement

When Ralph W. Gabler turns over the keys, money orders, stamps and other equipment of the Waldo postoffice to his successor in what he hopes is the not too far distant future, it will bring to a close a span of nearly 100 years that the postoffice has been in charge of some member of his family, nearly 50 years of operation under the Gabler name and 30 years of individual service as postmaster.

Mr. Gabler does not wish to continue in the capacity of postmaster but will continue the operation of his general store in the village of Waldo, a landmark in the community since 1872. The U. S. civil service commission recently announced that an examination will be held for postmaster at that place. No date has been set for the test.

Both the operation of the general store and the postoffice carried on by the Gabler family represents an unusual and it is believed an unparalleled record of service in the county. Mr. Gabler's ancestors who served the community with a store and postoffice and his maternal grandfather, Andrew Straub, one of the early settlers, was the first postmaster and owner of the general store when travel was by stagecoach and regular hours for the proprietor were unheard of. Mr. Straub was postmaster from Nov. 26, 1847 to Feb. 8, 1858.

Store Started in 1872

The general store in which the postoffice is housed was founded in 1872 by Mr. Gabler's father, the late William Gabler. He served as postmaster through a period of years when the postmastership was not protected by civil service laws and held the office only under Republican administrations. Mr. Gabler estimates that his father served about 24 years with occasional interruptions due to changing administrations.

Mr. Gabler started working in the store as a boy of 14. He served as assistant postmaster under his father for 16 years and in 1914 was appointed postmaster under civil service when his father retired.

Business has increased at the postoffice steadily and has become particularly heavy during the last five years. The first of last year the office was reclassified and advanced from a fourth to a third class.

Once Isolated

Towns like Waldo, he recalls, were isolated when he first started into the business. Horse and buggy were the means of transportation and long trips were out of the question. The community's information on the goings on of the inhabitants as well as that of the outside world was gleaned around the stove in the village store and from the weekly newspaper distributed at the postoffice. He has welcomed the institution of rural mail delivery and air mail service and seen horse-drawn rural mail wagons which required a dawn-to-dark day for deliveries, supplanted by motor deliveries. The village and surrounding community now is serviced by a star route out of Marion and rural delivery.

RALPH W. GABLER

Mr. Gabler will devote his time to managing his general store which he has seen grow from the kerosene by the barrel and cracker barrel era to deluxe package and up-to-date service. He, like others in this particular field of business, is having his own troubles with ration stamps, points and reports right now.

From Pioneer Families

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gabler are descendents of pioneer residents of southern Marion county. Mr. Gabler's grandfather came from Germany, traveling from Philadelphia to Marion county in a wagon to settle on a farm near Waldo. Mrs. Gabler was Stella Selanders, daughter of Meigs Selanders, a native of Waldo. They have one son, Cecil Gabler, of 296 Clover avenue, principal at Vernon Heights Junior High school.

Declare Hawaii Still Faces Invasion Threat

By The Associated Press

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, MARCH 31, — Adm. Chester W. Nimitz and Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson jointly declared in affidavits filed in federal district court Wednesday that the territory of Hawaii "now is in imminent danger of invasion" by Japanese armed forces and has been in such danger since the attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

The affidavits were filed with their answer to a habeas corpus case challenging the necessity and validity of continuing martial law in Hawaii.

Nimitz is commander-in-chief of the Pacific ocean areas. Richardson commands United States Army forces in the central Pacific and is military governor of Hawaii.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"I was just tellin' my brother Fred this morning, Judge...there's never been a time in our lives when we got to live up to that old sayin' 'United we stand, divided we fall' more than we have to today."

"How true that is, Herb. And for the life of me, I can't figure out why, at a time like this, some folks insist on raising a question like prohibition. I can't imagine anything that would tickle our enemies more than to get us folks over here taking sides against each other, arguing about an issue like that. We've got a he-man's job on our hands to win this war and we can't be wasting our minds, our money and our strength fighting about something we tried for nearly 14 years and found couldn't work.

"I say there's a time and a place for everything, and this is no time or place to be doing any fightin' except the kind that's going to win the war."

Are you, too, a disappointed "doser"? Then read this unsolicited letter!
"I'd started working nights, and with my way of living changed around, I soon found I was taking 3 or 4 laxatives a week, and feeling terrible. Then I heard about KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN through your radio program 'The Breakfast Club.' Since taking my daily helping of ALL-BRAN, I am regular as clockwork. Thanks for what your ALL-BRAN has done for me!" Mrs. Myrtle Wood, 274 [illegible] St., Akron, Ohio.
Yes, it does seem like magic, the way KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN helps so many people. "Gets at" one common cause of constipation — lack of enough dietary "cellulosic" elements! That's because ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements —which help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic contents for easy, natural elimination! KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!
If your constipation is this kind, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, with milk and fruit, or mixed with other cereals. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't find real help! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Teen Age Girls Big Problem

New York City Drive Discloses Prevalence of Delinquency; Other Cities Have Troubles.

By International News Service

NEW YORK—A little girl of only 11, missing from her home in the Bronx for five weeks, was picked up by police in Times Square the other night, coming out of a movie theater with a sailor.

The same night, two youngsters of 15 and 17, who had vanished from their New England homes a week before, were found with seamen whose names they didn't even know. One of them, on examination, was found to have a venereal disease.

Whole Nation Shocked

These and similar disclosures, which have been splashed over the front pages almost daily since New York City started its current drive to oust potential juvenile delinquents from the glittering Times Square area, have shocked the nation into awareness of the new Number One war-time problem—

The dangerous increase in delinquency among the "bobby socks" girls of teen age, who flock to the districts where men in uniform stroll in search of amusement.

Sharp Rise in Cases

New York, where delinquency cases have more than doubled in the past two years, is not the only city faced with this problem.

Chicago, Minneapolis, Detroit, Cleveland, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Seattle, Denver — and countless other large cities throughout the country—have reported sharp increases in juvenile court cases since Pearl Harbor, particularly among girls.

Many of these youngsters, nicknamed "Khaki-wacki girls" or "Victory chippies," are found to be suffering from venereal diseases, and not even aware of it—a serious menace not only to the service men but to general public as well.

Many, also, unschooled and unprepared to cope with the situation into which they have recklessly flung themselves, become pregnant—with a resultant rise in illegal operations and illegitimate babies.

Some Drift Into Vice

And some, who, in normal times would be innocently sipping cokes, going to movies and dancing with neighborhood boys of their own age whom they have known since infancy, drift tragically into a life of commercialized vice and crime.

In New York City, the prevalence of youthful feminine wanderers in the brightly-lighted theatrical district has become so pronounced—despite the efforts of special police squads—that a 10 p. m. curfew has been established in Times Square for all unescorted girls under the age of 16.

Chicago reports that the number of new petitions filed in the Juvenile Delinquency court rose, from 185 (adolescent girls) in 1941 to 541 in 1943.

Many Become Mothers

The number of young unwed mothers increased 20 per cent last year over 1942. Since 1941, sex delinquency cases among girls climbed 65 per cent.

In 1941, there were approximately 12,000 cases of juvenile delinquency in the state of California. In 1943, the figure had jumped to 21,000—all boys and girls under 18. Girls accounted for the greatest share of the increase.

Denver courts handled only 46 cases of adolescent girls in 1941, as compared with 190 in 1943. In addition to the 190, 66 girls were brought "unofficially" into court by their parents—and of this total of 256 cases, about 100 centered around serious sex misbehavior.

Figures In Other Cities

Numerous other cities follow the same pattern—Detroit, where juvenile court cases involving girls increased 62.7 per cent from 1940 to 1942; Milwaukee, girls up 51.9 per cent in the same period; St. Louis, girls up to 41.6 per cent; Kansas City, girls up 54.9 per cent.

However, most of the communities where the little girls with the flowing hair and the ankle socks are running wild, aren't just sitting by idly and doing nothing.

Many are making a concerted effort to curb the runaway youngsters before they ever reach the juvenile delinquent" stage.

New York, for instance, doesn't arrest the girls without records who are "picked up" by police after dark. The delinquents, or potential delinquents are sheltered until police can get in touch with their parents.

Many Girls Infected

Girls over 16 are sent to the Florence Crittendon League and the younger ones to the Children's Society shelter. They must undergo a medical inspection, and those who are infected either report to a city hospital or to a private physician for treatments.

There is, in addition, a Co-ordinating Precinct Council of parents, religious and professional leaders who work with the police to combat the menace of delinquency by setting up recreation programs to keep children in their own neighborhoods in wholesome surroundings.

In one Seattle, Wash., district, juvenile delinquency has dropped at least 50 per cent since the constitution of a program of coed clubs in schools under adult supervision and an "honor system."

Denver Controls Problems

Denver, site of a large army camp, and in addition crowded with war workers and their families, has conducted a church, school, and recreational drive to keep parents informed of the need of controlling their adolescent children. The results so far have been "satisfactory," according to Juvenile Court Judge Philip B. Gilliam.

Chicago has three separate organizations laboring. Thus far the Jewish Social Service Bureau, which offers advice monthly to some 1,200 families, has appeared to be the most effective.

A growing trend is the disciplining—not of the children but of their parents. Judge Lyle W. Jackson, of the City Court, Hornell, N. Y., announced recently that he intends to hold a special "parents' court" every Tuesday and Friday, to try fathers and mothers of delinquent boys and girls under section 494 of the penal law.

Poll Shows Public Optimism Over War's Length Declines

By GEORGE GALLUP

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., March 31—Public thinking about the length of the war has taken a sober turn in recent weeks. With the bloody battle of Italy making slow progress, the number of people who think Hitler's Germany will be defeated this year is much smaller than was the case two months ago.

The concensus of guesses today, as revealed in a nationwide survey by the Institute, is that the European war will not end until next year. This marks a significant change in public estimates. As of last January, a large majority of Americans thought the war would end in 1944. General Dwight Eisenhower had just made the same prediction.

The public estimates today are shown in the replies to the following question put to a cross-section from coast to coast by the Institute:

"How much longer do you think the war with Germany will last?"

PUBLIC'S GUESSES

Will end first half of 1944	2%
Second half of 1944	31
First half of 1945	39
Second half of 1945	7
In 1946	12
In 1947 or later	2
Unwilling to guess	7

It will be noted that the number who look for an end to the European war sometime this year totals 33 per cent. In an identical survey in January the number who gave that estimate was considerably larger—58 per cent.

Another indication of the extent to which recent events have sobered the public is that a total of 14 per cent think the European war will not end until 1946, or 1947 or later. In January such estimates totaled only 6 per cent.

War With Japan

The concensus of guesses concerning the war against Japan is about the same today as it was in January. The largest number look for the Pacific war to end in either 1945 or 1946.

PUBLIC'S GUESSES

Will end in 1944	6%
In 1945	33
In 1946	32
In 1947 or later	21
Unwilling to guess	8

The median average of all estimates is one year for the war against Germany, two years for the war against Japan.

Dogs were raised in ancient Mexico for food.

Lt. Neal Officially Reported Missing

Lt. Stanley Neal is one of 13 Ohioans, missing in action, whose names appear on the official list released by the war department today, The Associated Press reported. Lt. Neal is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neal of 733 Silver street. An account of the word received by the parents was carried in The Star on March 6. Also listed as missing in action was Second Lt. Robert W. McKeekin of Delaware.

Pfc. Glenn D. McCann of Dunkirk, and Pvt. Jacob E. Case of near Galion were members of a Signal Construction Company that received commendation from Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold, commanding general of allied forces opposing the Japanese on Bougainville, according to an Associated Press report received today.

A portion of the commendation to the unit, which is commanded by Capt. Malcolm Homsher of Columbus, was as follows: "Operating at half strength during a most pressing period and being given very limited time in which to accomplish its mission, the signal construction company has performed in the most creditable manner. The resultant neat and well constructed pole-lines are making possible an efficient signal system of which every member may well be proud."

An AAF Report on the Aviation Cadet Program

Thanks to the young men of America, the AAF is seizing air supremacy in every theatre, faster than we ever planned or even dared to hope.

Thanks to youth's eagerness to serve, the AAF has grown in a remarkably short time from a mere handful of men into the largest, most powerful air force in the world.

Thanks to the fitness and alertness of these young men, they have learned their job so quickly that we have been able to throw our great airplane production into effective combat quicker than we believed possible. Due to their daring and skill we are destroying the enemy with less loss to our own forces than we anticipated.

All air crew men must have the irresistible desire to fly. Every such flying man in the AAF is there on his own initiative . . . in response to our invitation to fly and fight with "The Greatest Team in the World." Hundreds of thousands have thronged to our Aviation Cadet Examining Boards in response to this appeal. Thousands are continuing to volunteer . . . for active duty . . . and for the 17-year-old Air Corps Enlisted Reserve.

Our gratitude to the young men of America, and to [illegible] young man who wishes to join. But there are other considerations . . . a balanced attack must be maintained.

Since last July the Selective Service process had not yielded enough men for all phases of the military program. Other branches of the army urgently need men for currently pending operations.

The AAF is ahead of schedule. It has sufficient men in training and in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve to meet its present schedule for combat crews. It must therefore balance this activity with immediate over-all needs.

As General Marshall has announced, the AAF has returned to their former commands some 36,000 men who had recently volunteered for air crew training from the ground and service forces. [illegible] further notice, the AAF [illegible] men into active duty [illegible] for air crew [illegible]

We suggest, among other things, the physical training and other preparatory courses of the High School Victory Corps which are recommended for the various armed services, and the physical and pre-aviation training given to CAP Cadets by the nation-wide organization of the Civil Air Patrol, an auxiliary of the Army Air Forces.

KEY MAN LIST NAMED BY WPB

Classifications for Deferment Requests Drawn Up in 22-25 Year Group.

WASHINGTON, March 31—The war production board yesterday announced an official list of urgent manufacturing programs in which the WPB, Army, Navy and maritime commission will ask draft deferments for key men 22 through 25 years old.

Considerably larger than a previous tentative list compiled last week, yesterday's list represents those activities now considered most important in the light of immediate military needs.

The WPB, Army, Navy and maritime commission recommendations for deferments for men 22 through 25 will be limited to the following production items, including production of component parts for these items:

Army list—Amphibious "ducks"; tires and tubes (aircraft, combat and heavy-duty) including necessary tire cord, fabric and milds; radar; rockets; critical components for trucks 2 tons and heavier including truck trailers and class one and class two tractors; research and development work specifically assigned by the technical services; certain airplanes to be listed in detail later.

Navy list—Landing craft; rockets; submarines; aircraft carriers; high capacity ammunition; radar; maintenance of ships and aircraft for the fleet; certain airplanes, to be listed in detail later.

Maritime list — All tanker construction; combat-loaded cargo and transport ships (AKAS and APAS).

"Production of components (parts) in critical short supply for the above listed programs shall receive the same consideration as the end product listed, to the extent required in each plant," WPB said in a telegram to its regional directors.

Men under 22 were not mentioned in the announcement, and manufacturing programs not listed were apparently out in the cold as regards government agency support for deferments of workers under 26.

Even in the programs listed, the telegram made it clear that indorsement of employers' requests for deferments must be limited to specific individuals whose work "requires an extreme or specialized skill or knowledge or a high educational or specialized qualification; and then only when the individual employe is irreplacable from other less urgent work within the plant or by recruitment."

POLICE HOLD WAR WORKER IN ATTACK WITH HATCHET

Michigan Man Confesses Assault on Step-Daughter.

By The Associated Press

LANSING, Mich., March 31—State police today held James Riley Gillihan, 46-year-old Lansing war worker, whom they said admitted he tried to slay with a hatchet a young woman whose mother he had married so he could be near the girl.

Sergeant Lawrence M. Meehan of the state police said the victim, Margaret McUmber, 23, was in critical condition, her skull crushed by several blows with a hatchet.

Gillihan surrendered to city police last night, Meehan said, quoting the man as having announced "I just killed a woman." He said officers found Miss McUmber unconscious in the residence where she had lived with her mother and Gillihan just outside the city.

Meehan said Gilligan told a bizarre story that he and Miss McUmber were sweethearts, but became estranged several years ago. He said Gillihan related that at the girl's suggestion he married her mother, Mrs. Ludma McUmber, 41, and that since then he and the young woman had been intimate but that recently she had refused to accept his attentions.

Area of Agreement on Manpower

WHILE officially President Roosevelt's approval of a national service act is still the government's position on solving the manpower problem, there is no well defined area of agreement in the administration. Manpower Chief McNutt is skeptical of a national service act. Undersecretary of War Patterson, one of the earliest advocates of national service, is still for it, but the idea has gained no strong support among Democrats in congress.

Thus, in effect, Mr. Roosevelt's declaration, instead of being the position of his administration, has become a personal opinion, leaving other spokesmen for the majority free to differ with it. The result in congress and on the public in general is to add confusion to confusion. Until it is known what the party in power is prepared to back up in the way of a solution, there is slight possibility of joining the issue and coming to a decision.

As matters stand now, it is universally conceded that unless something constructive is done about manpower shortages in critical areas and critical industries, there probably will be serious trouble. But as long as there is no purposeful effort to meet the problem more than half way—as long as it continues to be handled like a hot potato—the trouble seems inevitable.

Oklahoma Straw Vote

ROBERT E. Hannegan, young chairman of the Democratic national committee, is spoofing, of course, when he says Republican inability to carry the second Oklahoma congressional district Tuesday explodes the myth of a nationwide Republican trend. The district has gone Republican once in 30 years—the Harding landslide. It normally goes Democratic by some 15,000 votes; it went Democratic Tuesday by approximately 4,000 votes, after the Roosevelt administration had turned loose no less a political siege gun than Sen. Barkley, Democratic leader of the senate, to make the district safe for big-d-Democracy. Mr. Hannegan and the party's wiser and older heads know that a 4,000 majority doesn't give them anything to take for granted.

But the result does explode one myth. Republican victory next November isn't automatic, as some Republicans fancied, after Kentucky elected a Republican governor. In Oklahoma, the party began to tangle with the first team: Sen-Barkley is as big as they come. Republicans learned the truth of what Democrats have claimed about the other by-elections they have lost—that it would be different when the administration was directly involved. The Oklahoma voting was a straight New Deal test. Nothing else was involved. The voters knew they were being-watched.

In Oklahoma, political allegiances sit lightly. Geographically a southern state, it voted for Harding in 1920. In 1924 it was back in the Democratic column. In 1928, it refused to plump for Al Smith and gave Hoover a thumping majority. It went for Mr. Roosevelt three to one in 1932; two to one in 1936, three to two in 1940. In 1942, it elected a Republican senator. In 1944—in a by-election—it has elected a Democratic representative in a district that only elected a Republican once before in its history. If we were Mr. Hannegan we wouldn't give better than 100 to 1 odds on Oklahoma being safe for next November, regardless of exploded myths.

The Greater Danger at Cassino

GREATER than the danger of military stalemate at Cassino is the possibility of Allied prestige being ransomed there at too great a cost. President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill may be tempted to relieve the pressure of public opinion by breaking the deadlock with a Pyrrhic victory.

History points up this specific danger, because it was in a drive on Rome from southern Italy in 281 B.C. that King Pyrrhus won the victory over the Romans whose exorbitant cost gave the world the expression, Pyrrhic victory. Cassino is not worth a repetition. In neither the military nor the political sense is it to be compared with Stalingrad, for instance, where victory at any price was a bargain for the Russians.

The possibility of the Germans doing more than creating a stalemate at Cassino has not been mentioned so far; they are keeping the Allies from going forward but there seems no question of Allied ability to keep them from regaining the territory they lost south of Cassino. It is the political, not the military, situation which threatens to get out of control. To the extent that speculation on Allied strategy seems to demand an effort to sweep past Cassino at any price, the speculation, itself, is dangerous. The main business of the Allies is Germany's defeat, and Cassino has relatively little bearing on that. Hitler cannot salvage his war by proving that the Allied campaign in Italy was not staged on a scale great enough to dislodge a determined German defense. The loss of Allied prestige is unfortunate, but it cannot be called catastrophic.

ON THE BANDWAGON

Never one to ignore the significance of passing events, the man Franco is expected any day now to observe, "Well, I see us Allies are winning."—Detroit News.

News Behind the News

Health Not Expected To Interfere With Possible Roosevelt Fourth Term

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 31—The yarns being spun into print about Mr. Roosevelt's health all raise a prospect that he will not run for the fourth terms.

Whatever his health, the prospects are being overdrawn. A condition has been established in the Democratic party whereby no one can run but Mr. Roosevelt. From every practical standpoint, therefore, he already has compelled himself to run.

Another related story is that he will get the nomination and resign in favor of the vice president, or be elected and so resign. Practical politics never works that way either.

True, the vice presidential nomination may be more important this year than normally. Also, Mr. Roosevelt may be induced to bring more forceful and active men into his surrounding background picture, to ease the personal strain. But Presidents do not resign, for any cause, including health, and never will.

Like Third Term Talk

What strikes me as extraordinary about the stories is that they are circulated by his friends (worshipful Aubrey Williams is among those quoted), and the very same stories were circulated at exactly this stage of the third term campaign.

From a political standpoint, they apparently serve a good purpose. They seek to remove entirely any self-seeking aspect. They put his continuance in office on the ground of self-sacrifice, instead. Thus, they remove one of the greatest popular defects to this candidacy, even if they also cast some doubt on his ability to continue.

Labor Draft Fades

Drivers from the labor draft bill (national service) were flabbergasted when Mr. Roosevelt's production lieutenant, Donald Nelson, came out against it—especially as they were trying to organize a new public sentiment behind it.

When one of the authors of the bill was asked if this implied that Roosevelt was cooling toward the proposition, he replied:

"I wonder too."

While Mr. Roosevelt energetically indorsed the bill at the outset of the congressional session, he has not lifted a finger, even privately, for it since. Some of his friends have thought it was hardly wise to champion a bill so strongly opposed by labor in a campaign year.

Consequently, the congressional advocates are turning to the Clare Booth-Luce idea of using 4-F draft-deferred men in essential industries, or some alternative plan.

In my opinion, the labor draft failed because its sponsors were not able to make out a case of need for such a tragic departure from democartic ways. Mr. Nelson, for instance, says we are nearing the peak of production with actually surpluses of manpower in some areas, although there are shortages in others. He thought the bill would do more harm than good.

Military Promotions

Publicity about the senate military affairs committee holding up the promotion of 14 top army officers has largely concerned Lt. Gen. Patton, who slapped a shell-shocked private. Main one of the 14, about whom the committee is doubtful, however, is General Somervell (permanently advanced from colonel to major-general).

Somervell is responsible for the over-expenditures in the Pentagon building, and is a frifend of Harry Hopkins, to whom was attributed the movement some months back to send Chief of Staff Marshall abroad so Somervell could become chief of staff.

Patton's advancement to permanent major-general may be approved because he is in command of another army, but a majority of the committee has been at least temporarily lined up against Somervell.

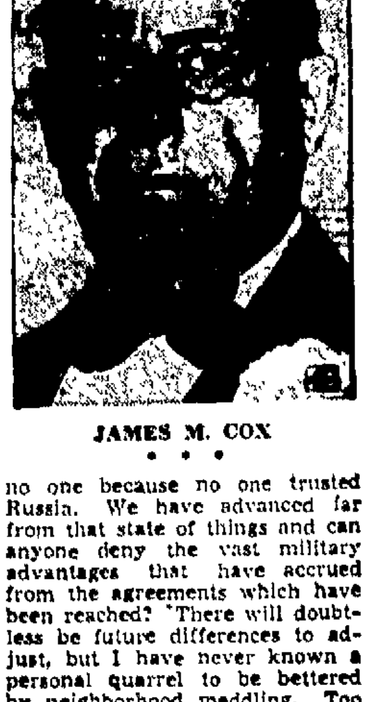
A Look at the Future Peace

Cox Recalls Past as Guide Ahead.

James M. Cox, three-time governor of Ohio, carried the issue of United States membership in the League of Nations to the people in the presidential election campaign of 1920, when he was the Democratic nominee. Franklin D. Roosevelt was his running mate. A close associate of President Wilson, Governor Cox supported the league as an instrument of peace.

(Now, as we move toward the end of another war, the subject of this country's international policies is of great interest. On the occasion of his 74th birthday, The Associated Press asked Governor Cox to express his views on the past and the future.)

By JAMES M. COX



JAMES M. COX

• • •

MIAMI, Fla., March 31—My thinking of the peace now is as it was in 1920. The star that Woodrow Wilson followed is still my light and guide. He warned us in words that are now prophecy fulfilled. I cannot believe, following these years of torment and suffering, that a civilized world will permit to be destroyed the noblest project conceived by mankind. Nor can there be, in the face of our tragic mistake, another triumph in this country for a political cabal such as blasted our hopes a quarter of a century ago. But there is a task to be completed first. We cannot insure the future without first dealing with the present.

There is much to be done at home and the gravity and extent of the things to be done here will become more apparent with each day. I wish I had the facility to tie thought into phrase in such a way as to convey to all of us what is deep rooted in the minds and souls of the brave men and women on the battle fronts. We have not been as faithful to our defenders as they have been to us. There are countless numbers of individual exceptions, but by and large we can't be proud of ourselves

We Resent Discomforts

We have feasted so long at the table of the gods that we cease to regard our fortune as a gift, but take it rather as a right. When emergency compels any trespass upon our bounty, we do not respond with our better selves. We complain and criticize. As our comforts and conveniences are disturbed, demagogs try to take our minds from the nation's great achievements of war to things so little and so relatively unimportant that we should reproach ourselves for even thinking of them. This leads us to nag and hamper our leaders with energies that might better be employed against the enemy. Thousands of us presume to know more about the direction of armies than General Marshall and of naval strategy than Admiral King. We should long ago have learned the dangers of such back seat driving. Our assumption of superior knowledge runs in other directions too. We are reading in the press and hearing over the radio a continuing inquiry into the necessary secrets of the war movement. What went on at the conferences at Cairo and Teheran? What did Roosevelt say to Stalin? What did Stalin say to Churchill? And so on and on. A man from Mars might easily assume that we think these leaders are stupid or unfaithful when the facts are obviously otherwise.

Something to Remember

We need to remember that a very delicate situation existed with respect to the relations among our allies. Russia trusted no one because no one trusted Russia. We have advanced far from that state of things and can anyone deny the vast military advantages that have accrued from the agreements which have been reached? There will doubtless be future differences to adjust, but I have never known a personal quarrel to be bettered by neighborhood meddling. Too many editors, columnists and commentators demand the details of the most confidential situation. What could they do about it if they knew? There would be wide differences of opinion not only as among them, but their readers and hearers as well. There would be no agreement, no solution, only worse confusion. We must trust our leaders. A million commanders cannot win a war.

Recently I heard upon the air a statement like this: We are a free people; we intend to remain free; we mean to know all about what is going on and in furtherance of this shall persist in our inquisition. Some of our editors, columnists, commentators and politicians seem to believe that unless they constantly inquire into what must be confidential matters and throw doubt on all that is done, their usefulness and omniscience might be questioned.

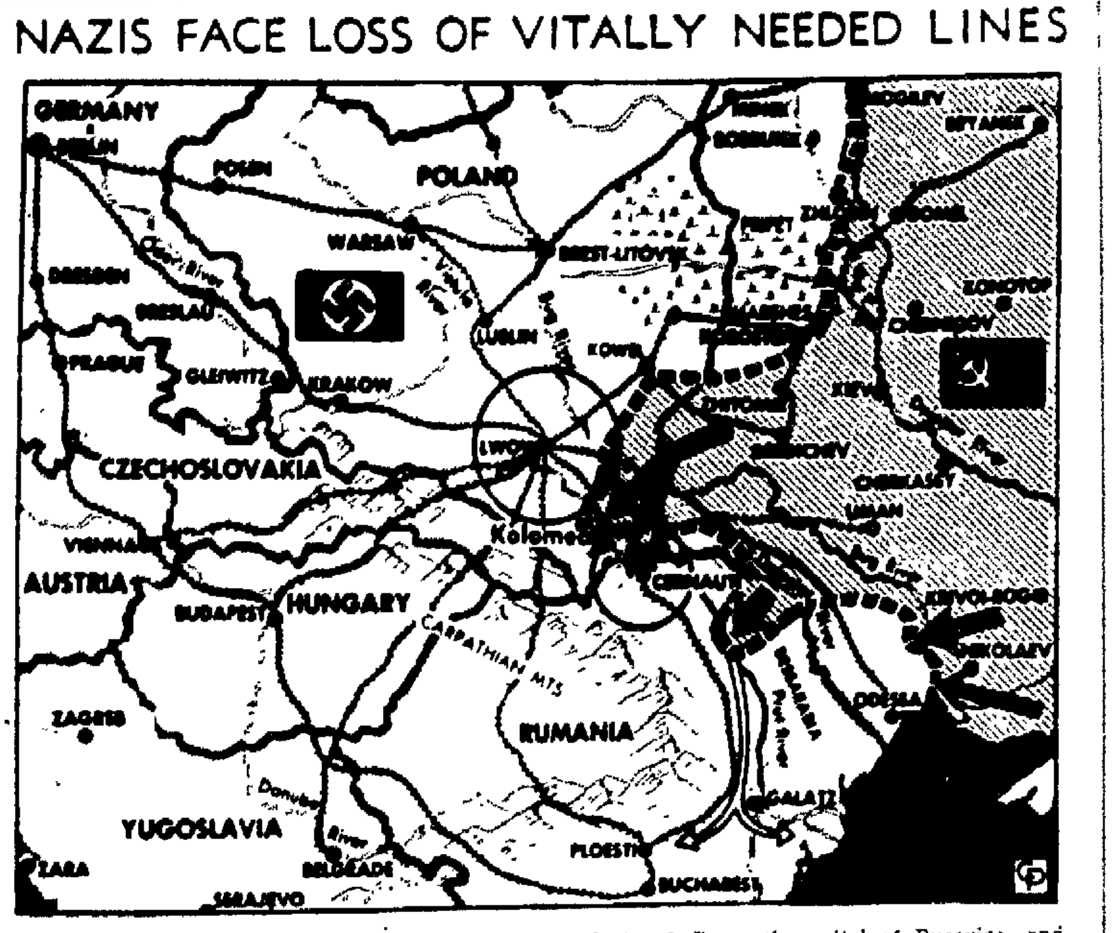
Recalls News Experience

For more than fifty years I have been in the newspaper business and it is needless to assert that I have always regarded freedom of the press, as now we should add, of the radio too, as an essential element of democracy. However if this freedom is abused, then journalists who revere the fine traditions of our profession, should be the first to resent it. It is easier for those who neither sense nor respect plain inhibitions to make mystery and suspicion out a silence compelled by sheer military emergency. It is not sufficient to say that this is unpatriotic. If it prolongs the war a single day and adds to our casualty list the life of a single one of our gallant youths, then it is difficult to find the adequate word of condemnation.

Every member of our military forces back from overseas, with whom I have talked, tells me that in the hour of peril he was in communion with his God. I am wondering whether the rest of us would not better be closer to God and seek removal of the pettiness of our natures. Let us ask Him to destroy the idols of our partisan politics. Well might we ask him to make us deserve the coming fruits of a tranquil world.

In the first World war we fought for the preservation for democracy. That is what we are striving for now. That is what the boys at the front are fighting for. It is for us, by putting patriotism above politics to demonstrate that democracy can be made to work in war; and then, after peace has come, to work in the adjustments of a lasting peace.

NAZIS FACE LOSS OF VITALLY NEEDED LINES



Red army forces have fought their way into the outskirts of Cernauti, capital of Bucovina, and have captured Kolomea, Prut river railway town only 30 miles from Czechoslovakia. These gains threaten Lwow, vast railway center, loss of which would be a terrific blow to the Germans. Note communications lines from Lwow to Krakow and Berlin and southward, through Cernauti to Ploesti, Bucharest and north again to Budapest. Arrows designate other Soviet advances.

Pacifism and Christianity

By Right Rev. William T. Manning

This is the text of a widely quoted letter to The New York Times by Bishop Manning of New York, commenting on a protest by other clergymen against the bombing of cities.

THERE has been wide discussion of the protest published by 28 ministers of religion and others against the present bombing of cities in Germany.

As a minister of the Christian church, may I express through your columns my profound disagreement with the position taken in that protest, a disagreement which I believe is shared by the vast majority of the ministers of all churches in our land? I have great respect for the signers of that protest individually, but the protest which they have issued is spiritually and morally a gravely harmful one. It is morally confusing and weakening to our people at a moment when they need every support that religion can give them; it depreciates and casts a doubt upon the heroic service of the men in our armed forces who are giving their lives for us and for others; it gives aid and comfort to the aggressors and evil doers in this world conflict, and it tends to discredit religion by giving the impression that the pacifist position is the true Christian position.

The pacifist principle, the principle of "peace at any price," is not the Christian principle. The Christian religion teaches that there are evils worse than bodily suffering and death, and that there are things which we must uphold and defend, even at the cost of life itself, and it is on this principle that our airmen and all the men in our armed forces are giving their lives.

All of us abhor war quite as deeply as do the signers of this protest. All of us are grieved and horrified at the destruction and suffering which war brings. Our airmen have no desire to bomb cities or to kill civilians, but this is brought upon us by the forces of aggression, cruelty and terror which we are fighting, and those evil forces have it in their power to end the bombing of their cities at any moment by giving up their evil aims and oppressions and laying down their arms.

But as matters stand, the bombing of cities which are military objectives, fearful as this is, is only a necessary and inescapable part of our whole effort to end the war, to stop the bloodshed, cruelty and suffering, to liberate the enslaved and tortured peoples and to open the way for a just and righteous peace and for such cooperation and fellowship of the peace-loving nations as shall safeguard the world against another such outbreak of barbarism.

If the war is to be shortened and the world freed from this assault of brutality and terror, what substitute can the signers of this protest suggest for the bombing of cities which are military objectives, terrible and grievous as we all feel this to be?

Consider the Lily

While considering the lilies of the field that toil not neither do they spin, advises Business Week, also consider the industry which has grown up about them, especially since the war ended Japan's virtual monopoly.

Lilies bring about $35,000,000 a year to growers. The larger bulbs are sold to florists for forcing, mainly for Easter week and weddings. Sales of blooms this year will bring close to $80,000,000 to florists. But between the florist and grower are other groups taking a profit from the lily business.

Some 20 years ago disease practically ruined the Bermuda Easter lily business. Then Japan took over. In 1940 it sent 25,000,000 bulbs to the United States, selling them for $845,000. Holland sent 1,000,000 bulbs worth $45,000. United States production was negligible.

Today, Oregon, Washington and Florida are lily production centers. Prices for flowers, either potted or cut, will run from $7.50 to $12 a dozen this year, compared with a pre-war price of about half that much. Costs of production have risen sharply. One of the costs few persons know about is the labor of picking off the pollen-laden anthers so the yellow dust won't stain the inside of the blossom.

Largest single lily grower is Rex Beach, the author, who has about 50 acres near Sebring, Fla. He plants about 25,000 bulbs an acre and harvests about 20,000 in the fall when they have grown two or three inches larger in circumference. The largest bulbs are sold for from 50 to $1 piece for forcing.

Has Rare Books

By The Associated Press

BATON ROUGE, La.—The first 15 volumes of "Annals de Chimie," oldest chemical journal which still is displayed under the same title, are among rare books of the Louisiana state university chemical library. The volumes were published in 1792.

Another old book is Robert Boyle's "New Experiments Physico Mechanical Touching the Spring of the Air and its Effect," published in 1662. The book, which retains its original board binding, was written as a letter.

"John has a marvelous idea for a new book, but he's waiting for a postwar typewriter!"

Social Security

System Awaits First Test, Expected To Come During First Year After End of War.

By SIGRID ARNE

FIRST test of the seven-year-old social security system in the United States will occur the first year after the end of the war.

The question is whether there will be enough reserve created by deductions from something like 63,000,000 pay checks to pay benefits to the aged and unemployed when their claims reach flood level.

It will be a more severe test than any of the social security authors foresaw, and its severity apparently is the reason why Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan has conceded that the rate of social security collections for old age benefits should be increased this year because the reserve fund won't be sufficient when the real load of social security falls due.

On the optimistic side, economists believe social security can cushion deflation. They do not believe, on the other hand, its disbursements can have much effect in the other direction, because in the fiscal year 1942-43 it disbursed less than a billion. Predictions have been made that it will prove inflationary, however, when the peak period is reached.

The system hands out no bonanzas. Average payment last year was $200. Total payments were $994,508,000 to 4,980,498 persons.

That was in the three classes assisted by social security; old age insurance (including wives, widows, parents and children of insured workers over 65); unemployed; those who get public assistance—uninsured and indigent aged, dependent children, and the blind.

THERE'S little worry about paying benefits in the immediate future, even though the number eligible is expected to double after the war because 600,000 persons over 65 kept on working during the war and will be free to ask for pensions when the war labor shortage ends

There's an adequate reserve fund of 4.2 billion dollars for them. They received 149 million in 1942-43. Double that and it's 300 millions, less than a third of this year's payments into the fund.

Those 149 million dollars went for the care of not only the aged worker over 65, but his wife, any children under 18, and any parents.

That's where the fight starts in Washington—the outgo and the income.

For the last three years payments into old age insurance were supposed to double. Right now we are paying 1 per cent of income up to $3,000 a year into the treasury for old age insurance, and this is matched by employers

But for the past three years it was supposed to rise to 2 per cent. A congressional bloc led by Sen. Vandenberg, "froze" the payments. We still pay 1 per cent.

Sen. Vandenberg has reversed his position, but formerly he reasoned it was ridiculous to pile up a huge fund in the treasury when Morgenthau, himself, estimated that a safe margin was three times the amount needed at any time during the next five years.

Sen. Vandenberg argued that by the time we have 50 billions in the old age insurance fund we'll be paying 1-5 billion a year interest, because the funds are held in 3 per cent government bonds.

But Arthur Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board, asserts that the large funds now coming into the social security account are deceptive, if compared with the much smaller funds going out.

He points out that the drive for war manpower has brought such an increase of insured workers (from 42 to 63 million) that it is necessary to pile up a large reserve fund now to meet the payments when the peak comes, between 1970 and 1980. Sen. Vandenberg recently seems willing to give in on this point.

THERE'S a popular misconception that the treasury includes social security funds as "income," but fails to count them as "debt," since they do constitute a government obligation for the future. That's not true. They're registered on treasury statements as part of the debt.

Then comes the second big fight.

Sen. Robert Wagner of New York has introduced a bill that would extend the social security system; increase the benefits; provide medical and hospital care; "cover" about 20 million persons not now included (such as farm labor, domestics, employes of non-profit organizations, some civil servants, and the self-employed)—and further would put control of unemployment compensation in the federal government. Unemployment compensation funds are now managed by 51 different units—the 48 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii.

Both the AFL and CIO approve the Wagner bill, although such an extension would mean 6 per cent withheld from paychecks in addition to regular withholding taxes.

Sen. Vandenberg says the state can not possibly consider the Wagner bill seriously until after the war. President Roosevelt, Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Altmeyer, in various ways, all have recommended early consideration.

Exercise Trust

By Truman Twill

Consider the body builders. Take away the smell of arnica and the crutches and what's left, except muscle tone?

They toil not, neither do they spin, but they can jump five feet straight up in the air on a handball court and when they come down they will never be the same.

They walk miles up hill and down dale to find a little ball and call it fun, but ask them to walk a beat behind an ingenious piece of machinery called a lawn mower and they threaten to vote for the opposition candidate.

Gladly will they shell out for the privilege of doing pushups on a thin mattress, but if you value your good name never suggest that muscle tone might be developed doing pushdowns with a garden spade.

In the morning they dearly love to stand in front of an open window and make healthful gestures while inhaling deeply, but it is an insult to suggest they might stand on the other side of the window in the afternoon and make useful gestures with a wet sponge.

Their joy and delight is to take nature jaunts in the great outdoors, but never, never make the mistake of saying it might be good for them to jaunt off to the day's occupation, or they will give you all the inside dope on gas rationing.

Perspiration to them is not a thing to be brought on lightly and wiped off with the back of the hand, but a valuable by-product of membership in the international sweat-through joy movement.

Writhing and twisting for health improve the digestion and prolong life—but the thought of standing on a stepladder to clean wallpaper makes them wish they were dead. Work is work and exercise is exercise, and never the twain should meet.

It is one thing to put on shorts and a sweat shirt and bend that middle for the purpose of working off surplus poundage, but the ladies and gentlemen of the exercise trust will tell you it is something else entirely to bend in pursuit of the elusive household dust and tenacious garden weeds.

They may dash in and out of the water like so many limber nymphs at a bathing beach, but the thought of water in a scrub bucket fills them with thoughts of drowning. The exercise trust may kill itself for health's sake, but it never surrenders its creed: Work is not exercise and work is not, therefore, good for you.

Marion Man Home from Italy Voices Praise of Red Cross

The work of the Red Cross in the Italian and North African areas is generously praised by Pvt. Newton D. Cunningham, home on a 21-day furlough, after a year overseas. In an interview yesterday, Pvt. Cunningham remarked that the only non-military recreational and entertainment facilities available are furnished by that organization.

In the Naples area, where he was stationed, a large building housed the facilities furnished by the organization. Service men were able to see a movie three times a week. The other four nights usually offered some form of G. I. entertainment. All phases of Red Cross services to the soldiers were carried on in this building.

During the time that Pvt. Cunningham was near the front lines, his unit was making a photographic story for the Red Cross, which was to have been used in a March of Time production. At this time he saw the Red Cross donut huts which were located on the front lines.

Entering the service two years ago, April 24, Pvt. Cunningham has been stationed with the 5th Army, doing signal photographic work in Italy for four months. He is a graduate of Harding High school and prior to entering the service, he worked for his father, T. M. Cunningham, in his plumbing establishment. Mr. Cunningham died last year. A sister, Mrs. R. C. Cheney, lives at 202 Chicago avenue, and while in Marion, Pvt. Cunningham is visiting at her home. He will report to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., at the end of his furlough.

YOUNG MUSICIAN PLAYS ON HARDING PIANO HERE

Dolores Holtz Tries Former White House Instrument.

A visit to the Harding home where she played on the concert grand piano which graced the White House during the term of President Warren G. Harding was an off-the-schedule highlight of Dolores Holtz's trip to Marion early this week. The 10-year-old girl, who is making a name for herself as a pianist, came to Marion from her home in Middletown to appear on the Junior Lecture-Recital club program Monday evening. Tuesday morning, with her teacher, Alma Betcher of the University of Cincinnati, she visited the Harding home. She played a group of three numbers and her teacher also played a selection. Of added interest to the guests was learning that the former first lady also had studied music at the university's conservatory of music. The piano, an A. B. Chase, was a gift to President and Mrs. Harding shortly after they entered the White House. It bears the seal of the United States and also the President's seal.

Admiral King asks you to make your home an Arsenal for Victory

"America's resources are definitely limited. Indeed, many of our operations are being handicapped through shortages of manpower, materials and war production necessities such as coal, oil and gas. I personally ask every boy and girl . . . every man and woman . . . to fight waste as spiritedly and as unrelentingly as the men in our Navy fight the enemy. The same fighting spirit in every American home as there is on every American warship will help release vast amounts of men and materials for the victories of tomorrow. Make your home a fighting home by fighting waste so we'll win the fight faster."

E. J. King, Admiral, U.S. Navy

COMMANDER IN CHIEF, UNITED STATES FLEET

The men in the fighting forces themselves have set the most striking example of what can be done by fighting waste. So you are actually being asked to match in your home, office and factory the care now exercised by the men who are fighting for you.

Perhaps you've been too hurried or worried to give it much thought. Of course, you know better than to raise a window to cool a room—to leave your refrigerator door open too long—to burn valuable waste paper—to let a faucet drip or the drafts of the furnace stay open—to use up gasoline and tires for pleasure driving—or light the burner of your range before the pot is on—or all the other thousand and one little things that add up to an appalling waste.

Perhaps you just need some one person in your home to remind you each time you waste these precious resources that your country now needs so badly. Your small son or daughter could perform no greater service to America than to take over this policing job. If you have no children, you yourself should take it on your own shoulders. Start now!

HOW YOU CAN FIGHT WASTE IN YOUR HOME

Follow these four simple principles

- Conserve everything you use.
- Buy only what is necessary.
- Salvage what you don't need.
- Share what you have.

Secretary of War Stimson said today that army casualties in all theaters through March 15 totaled 130,619. The latest total reported for the Navy, Marines and Coast Guard is 42,620.

Army casualties: 22,570 killed, 53,124 wounded, 27,163 missing and 27,742 prisoners.

Stimson said that of the 53,124 Army wounded, 27,296 have returned to duty. Of the 27,742 prisoners, 1,675 have been reported by the enemy as having died of disease in prison camps, mostly in Japanese-occupied territory.

About one-third of the active medical practitioners in the U. S. are in the services.

ROOSEVELT'S NAME LOSES VOTE MAGIC

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31 — Representative Thomas Jenkins (R-Ohio) discerns an "unmistakable Republican trend" in New York and elsewhere in the country today and said the name Roosevelt had "lost its magic."

The Ohioan added in a house speech that election results since 1940 indicated conclusively President Roosevelt could not carry New York state in 1944.

"The Republican party has been gradually gaining in strength and the figures show it is much stronger than the combined strength of the Democratic party and the American Labor party. The Republicans hold the governorship and control the legislature * * *. And there is unmistakable Republican trend in the country.

"The American Labor Party, which is the New Deal party, has but little strength outside of New York City. It is now being torn by disunity."

Jenkins suggested that in an election held now Democratic congressional candidates would not carry New York City by more than 420,000 as compared with 573,000 two years ago.

"The large number of new congressmen who came into congress through the 1932-34-36-38 elections came because of Roosevelt's popularity in states other than New York."

Martin Says Bureaucrats Map Post-War Policy

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, March 31—Discussions of post-war problems of tremendous magnitude now are in progress without congressional representation, according to house Minority Leader Joseph E. Martin Jr.

Speaking at a meeting of the Massachusetts Women's Republican club last night, he said "a few bureaucrats alone have been participating in these conferences and making the crucial decisions which will affect the future of America for many years to come.

"Congress should be represented at these international conferences. * * *

"Foreign policy should be a national policy, and not the judgment of one individual or small group of individuals."

Church Filled as Students Begin Pre-Easter Series

Central Christian church was filled nearly to capacity this morning for the first of this year's series of the annual pre-Easter services presented by the Harding Hi-Y and Girl reserve groups under the direction of the Y. M. C. A.

The next service will be held Monday morning at 8:10 at the church. Services last from 8:10 to 8:40 and will be held every school day next week. Monday's subject will be "Guide Posts Along the Way." Peggy Hale and John McKenney will act as co-chairmen for the service.

EDEN MAY RESIGN AS FOREIGN MINISTER

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 31—Suave, dashing Anthony Eden was reported on the verge of stepping down as Britain's foreign secretary and the London News-Chronicle commented that "as things now stand he is almost certain to be the next conservative prime minister."

There has been talk for a week or more, that Eden might resign his present office with such a higher post in view as the ultimate objective. It was said he may give his full time to the role of government leader of the house of commons, a position he now fills in addition to being foreign secretary.

If Eden does decide to devote himself wholly to leadership of the house of commons, he will be faced with the problem offered by some members still disgruntled over the procedure by which the Churchill government won a vote of confidence yesterday.

Some London newspapers continued to chide Churchill today in editorial cartoons. Critics commented that the prime minister, having forced his confidence vote, should now state plainly his position on the equal-pay issue for men and women teachers, the comparatively insignificant spark that brought him [illegible] the house chambers, demanding unqualified support for his policies.

LACK OF MANPOWER TO CLOSE FURNACE

CANTON, O., March 31 — Because of a serious manpower shortage in its steel mill, the Timken Roller Bearing Co. plans to shut down one of its nine furnaces [illegible].

[illegible] Donze, company vice president in charge of production, said he expected the situation to become worse because of the draft. War manpower commission officials have been informed of the problem and have promised to try to get sufficient men to man the ninth furnace, Donze asserted.

The production head said the company had an immediate need for 500 workers. He disclosed some employes had been working as many as 94 hours a week and had refused to continue at such a pace.

"We cant blame them," Donze remarked. "They are pretty well worn out."

AWAIT REACTION OF DRAFT OF 4-FS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—Pointing to an estimated 6,000,000 4-F's between 18 and 45 as the answer to manpower problems, a house military subcommittee today awaited official reaction to its recommendation that many of these men be forced into essential jobs under threat of induction.

Promising legislation immediately after the Easter recess to help clamp job controls on the 4-F's, the committee called a final public session today to hear the manpower woes of a large segment of industry.

From officials of the National Tool & Die Manufacturers' association, Chairman Costello, Democrat of California, said, his subcommittee expects to learn the reaction of industry to the new move to replace with 4-F's thousands of physically fit occupationally-deferred young men.

Semi-official spokesmen disclosed the Army and the Navy were ready to carry out the committee's recommendation that the services publicly announce their readiness to use in labor battalions 4-F's who decline to move into essential industry, despite Secretary Stimson's reluctance to do so.

Also, they disclosed, the newly created inter-agency committee on deferments in industry soon may issue a list of occupations in which 4-F's may work without risking induction into labor groups.

Selective service was reported ready to begin reprocessing 4-F's at once to determine how many would be subject to the new program.

Costello said legislation under consideration would make the new program applicable not only to 4-F's but to non-fathers between 37 and 45.

FARMERS GET CHOICE OF TAX FILING TIME

Farmers may file their declarations of estimated tax April 15 or may wait until Dec. 15, Harry F. Busey, collector of internal revenue in Columbus, said today.

Farmers are defined by the tax laws as those who receive 80 per cent or more of their income from agriculture. They are the only taxpayers who have this choice of filing dates.

"Before you make your decision, however," Collector Busey advised farmers, "you ought to realize that if you file April 15 you can make your income tax payments in four quarterly installments, but if you wait until Dec. 15 you will have to pay the whole year's estimated tax in one lump sum."

The collector explained that when the pay-as-you-go system was adopted last year, it was realized that because of the seasonal nature and weather hazards of farming it might be difficult for some farmers to estimate their income and calculate their estimated tax early in the year. For that reason, they were given the option of waiting until Dec. 15. However, many types of farming result in fairly even income through the year, and it may be to the advantage of some farmers to file early and qualify for installment payments.

Farmers who want to file in April may calculate their tax by either estimating their prospective income for 1944 or by assuming it will be the same as last year. If the tax is based on last year's income and this year's rates and exemptions, and the payments are made on time, there can be no penalty if the estimate falls short. Otherwise, a farmer's estimate will not result in a penalty unless it is more than 33 1-3 per cent short. In any case, April estimates may be amended on June 15, Sept. 15, or Dec. 15.

The law requires farmers to file declarations if they expect their income this year to be $500 or more in the case of a single person or more than $624 in the case of a married person.

CHARGES LONERGAN JURY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31—General Sessions Judge James Garrett Wallace today began his charge to an all-male jury that will determine RCRAF Aircraftman Wayne Lonergan's fate on a first degree murder charge. Lonergan appeared calm although it was expected the jury might reach a decision by nightfall as to whether he choked and beat to death his wealthy wife, Patricia. The charge was read behind locked doors to avoid interruptions as were the final arguments of defense and prosecution yesterday.

Piles
Are Never 'Mild'
DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only positive cure. This can be done without knife, drugs or loss of time from work.

Allied Drives in Burma To Pave Invasion Path

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The strange medley of fighting in the fearsome jungles of Burma is taking on a very definite pattern in which we can recognize planned and coordinated spadework for the ultimate amphibious invasion of that country when we hit the final stretch of trail for Tokyo.

It is southeastern Asia's counterpart of the allied preparatory work in the Pacific. We have a fine example of the latter in today's news of the trio of attacks on important Japanese bases—the bombardment of the island of Palau, only 550 miles from the Philippines, by an American fleet; MacArthur's first aerial attack on the great enemy base of Truk, and his bombing of Hollandia, an enemy stronghold on New Guinea.

What, thank you, is the lure which draws our leather-faced Lt. General Joseph Stilwell personally into the steaming Burmese hell, when he has important work elsewhere as our commander in chief for China, Burma and India? Or our Brigadier General Frank Merrill with his specially trained jungle fighters from the Pacific? Or Britain's mystery soldier, Major General Orde Wingate—jungle specialist extraordinary who led his famous Wingate raiders in their sensational invasion of Burma a year ago?

In Burma for Reason

Well, these key men aren't in Burma because of any special new threat from the enemy. This assemblage of the chiefs of the jungle fighting clan means that Burma is being prepared for the day when a water borne invasion will sweep into it from the Bay of Bengal.

These new allied operations (or at least part of them) had their birth as I understand it, at the allied conference of Quebec last August. Wingate's amazing and useful adventure with his column of raiders among the Japanese of Burma had attracted Prime Minister Churchill's attention and the jungle-fighter was invited to Quebec.

There it was decided that Wingate should head another expedition—the one now in operation in conjunction with the Stilwell's drive and Merrill's specially trained killers. U. S. Chief of Staff Marshall is said to have promised Wingate American air support (which he is getting) and also sent to India the men now serving as Marauders under Merrill. Incidentally, Charles J. Rolo, British author of "Wingate's Raiders," tells me that both Wingate's present expedition and Merrill's men were given a post-graduate course in central India's fiercest jungle for months in preparation for the present job.

Fierce Fighting in Progress

Fierce and bloody fighting is in progress in northern Burma. It is hottest in the zone surrounding the big Japanese base of Myitkyina, and just over the Indian border in the state of manipur which the Japanese have invaded.

The allied offensive is aimed at driving the enemy out of the northern tip of Burma so that land communications with China can be reestablished. That communication was cut when we lost the Burma road. We now want to run a highway across Burma so as to join the Chinese end of the Burma road and the new road which has been built through India to Ledo on the northwestern border of Burma.

In order to knock the Japanese out of that region we must have the important rail-head of Myitkyina. So Stilwell is pushing southward towards that base with his Chinese troops. Merrill with his jungle fighters is on Stilwell's right. A British expedition is on "Uncle Joe's" left. Wingate with his glider troops is south of the town and is supported by another British column.

On assumes that the allies are trying to capture Myitkyina before the Monsoon deluge comes in a month or so to halt major fighting.

As for the Nipponese "invasion" of India, General Sir Claude Auchinleck, allied commander in chief in India, assures us that the security of India, "has never been in danger."

ITALY

Fortresses and Liberators, in the greatest force ever sent out by the 15th air force against a single target, attacked railway objectives in Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, other bombers spread over Italy and into Yugoslavia, hitting airfields, rail targets and shipping.

The American bombers and their escort encountered 10 German planes in the Sofia area and shot down 13.

The German bombs fell in the beachhead hospital area at dusk Wednesday when allied planes intercepted seven attacking planes.

The German dusk attack followed a futile afternoon raid against beachhead shipping in which at least 10 of the 40 raiders were destroyed.

Twelve allied planes were lost in yesterday's 1,500 sorties. Fifteen German craft were shot down and two destroyed on the ground.

LONDON, March 31—The German communique declared today that an allied force "encircled southwest of Cassino for some considerable time" had been annihilated after stubborn resistance. The broadcast communique added that German shock troops had captured several allied strongholds in northern Cassino.

STRAY DOGS TARGET OF DRIVE IN COUNTY

Two Owners Fined in Warden's Campaign.

Two Caledonia men were fined yesterday in Justice of Peace E. A. Burson's court at Caledonia on a charge of failing to register dogs. The men, Frank Conley and H. H. Coyle were arrested on affidavits filed by Elmer Ullom, county dog warden. Conley, charged with failure to register a female dog, was fined $25 and costs, $15 of which was suspended. An affidavit charging him with permitting a female dog to run at large was dropped. Failure to apply for registration for his dog drew a fine of $25 with a $15-dollar suspension for Coyle. Both were ordered to purchase licenses for their dogs.

A drive is being made throughout the county to rid it of stray dogs and to see that every dog is provided with a license tag. It was pointed out today by Warden Ullom that it has been two months today since any sheep has been reported killed in the county. In discussing the importance of ridding the county of strays, and also of having dogs licensed, he called attention to the fact that the gardening season is practically here and emphasized the fact that dogs should be kept at home to avoid possible destruction of property and neighborhood unpleasantness.

There are approximately 800 dogs in the county without licenses, the records show. Dogs must be licensed after three months of age, and there is a penalty of from $10 to $25 for harboring an unlicensed animal, he states. Licenses, which may be had at the county auditor's office are one dollar for a male dog, one dollar for a spayed female and three dollars for a female.

COLLETT

C. H. by Sheriff W. C. Icenhower and started on his journey to death row.

He was not handcuffed, but sat between special deputies and, throughout the trip, spoke almost light-heartedly of the bright sunny days of the farms they passed, but nothing of the crime of which he was convicted nor the doom ahead.

They passed, one of the deputies said, the farm of Mr. and Mrs. John Browning about five miles from Washington C. H. Collett, gazing at the home of his friends, remarked:

"Poor John and Fanny. They'll hate this too bad!"

Collett appeared composed as he stepped out of the automobile at the penitentiary and walked unassisted into the front entrance. His face was white and haggard, he wore no necktie under the high collar that supports his injured neck; and his long hair dropped loosely down over the collar.

The Bible appeared comparatively new, and Collett slipped it under his arm as he came into the prison and went inside for processing before he is sent to death row.

Warden Frank Henderson said the processing — identification, examination, photographing—would take about half an hour.

Then he will be taken to death row and placed in cell No. 2, immediately beside that of Henry Hagert, 18-year-old Cleveland youth awaiting execution for the slaying of twin boys last year. There are no others in death row, which is located in L block in the northwest section of the prison. Collett became No. 81269.

searchlights and other frontline equipment.

It is the junction of rail lines leading from the Ruhr to southeast Germany and from Berlin to Munich and Italy. It had a peacetime population of 450,000.

The record loss suffered by the RAF—which the Germans attributed to fighters rather than to ground defenses — demonstrated that reichs-marshal's air force still has a potent wallop when it cares to take the risk.

The previous top loss for the RAF was 79 in the raid on Leipzig Feb. 19.

A U. S. communique last night announced that American Thunderbolts yesterday attacked German airfields in Holland and the Holland-German border region, using both bombs and guns in their assaults. One Thunderbolt was lost and one German plane was destroyed.

London had brief alert last night, but an official announcement said scattered bombs caused only slight damage and a small number of casualties.

The British soon will put into use a new "super-fighter." A cryptic announcement circulated to the London press last night said it would have a "more sensational performance than any now in use."

Watson, professor of obstetrics at Columbia university, who attended the birth. Father of the three daughters and one son is a 33-year-old violinist. The couple has one other child.

37th First Class Fighters

was ready. With a brilliant military record both in the regular Army and in the National Guard, this man set to work to mold a fast moving, hard hitting team.

Goal Kept in Mind

Through the trying days at Camp Shelby when the division moved into a partially completed camp, and through the long hours of basic training, platoon, company, battalion, regimental and division field maneuvers, through the tiresome days of range practice, General Beightler drove his men with his eyes on ultimate physical combat with the enemy. Many in the division said the old outfit would never get into combat but General Beightler only nodded and went on with the arduous program of training which he had outlined for his troops. Somehow he knew that these men who looked to him for guidance would be in a spot where only superb training and rigid discipline would get them out.

The maneuvers in Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas in 1941 were tough, in fact, tougher in many cases than actual fighting in New Georgia and Bougainville. The division reached its peak of combat efficiency early in 1942. The men had run the gauntlet of the complete Army training program and they were spoiling for a fight. Now General Beightler's job was to keep that spirit high, keep his troops from going stale. After the move to the Indiantown Gap military reservation in Pennsylvania in February, 1942, the division was alerted to go overseas and now the problem was procurement of adequate clothing and equipment tough enough to stand up under jungle conditions.

Busy With Preparations

Upon arrival in Fiji the 37th relieved a skeleton division of the New Zealand army and set about to defend the islands. For nearly a year troops dug thousands of fox holes, laid hundreds of miles of wire and maneuvered in the field continually. Again was heard the old cry "the 37th will never see action." But General Beightler, whose son Robert Jr. is a graduate of West Point and a first lieutenant in the Army's parachute corps, worked on tirelessly. Perhaps he was using for his military yard stick his experiences as an officer with the 166th infantry of Ohio which formed part of the famous Rainbow divison during World war I.

The move to Guadalcanal's battle fields in April, 1943, brought the 37th a little closer to combat but in spite of numerous air raids the now familiar cat call of "the 37th will never see action," continued to be heard. This time General Beightler answered these statements with even more rigid discipline and maneuvering continued on the same plan as it had back in the early days of induction.

Then came the division's opportunity to put into practice all those training tenets which General Beightler had pounded into them for nearly three years.

Repeating the story of the 37th's action in the campaign for the vital Munda airfield would only be telling a story that's been told a thousand times before but again let the record speak for itself. The Mudna airfield was taken in a period of a month and the 37th was in there slugging all the way. You may talk of front line generals but you can't tie this one. This man who was awarded the Legion of Merit by the Navy and the distinguished service medal by the Army directed the division's action from a fox hole barely 300 yards from the front lines. It was necessary that General Beightler have his headquarters close to his fighting troops so that's just where he located it.

(It was announced Wednesday that General Beightler had been awarded the silver star for valor under fire during the campaign.)

Prepared for Bougainville

General Beightler knew that he and his unit would go with the Marines to Bougainville. Instead of a rest in a rear area all the time was spent reequipping, ironing out some rough spots that had cropped up in the Munda battle and getting the men in a suitable frame of mind to again come to grips with the Japanese.

The 37th that went into Bougainville was a battle-hardened, veteran division which knew all the angles of jungle fighting. It was a return engagement of a carefully rehearsed play. The division knew its job, what was expected and it came through like seasoned troopers.

You can't write the story of the 37th without mentioning General Beightler in every other line and you can't write the story of General Beightler without continually bringing up the subject of Ohio's own fighting men.

In an interview with an army combat correspondent General Beightled said, "I've got a couple of important conferences waiting but if you want to talk about the 37th division I'll stay with you for a week." That's how it is.

Perhaps no man is as symbolical of the fighting might of Ohio as is General Beightler. Ohio is proud of its battling sons and of the man who leads them.

But let's get a little more intimate with General Beightler's background. A background which has supplied inspired leadership for one of the finest divisions in the United States Army.

Native of Marysville

He was born in Marysville, O., a little town north of Columbus, March 21, 1892. He followed his enlistment in 1911 with service on the Mexican border in 1916. When it became apparent that his unit would not get to France he resigned a commission as second lieutenant in the regular army and joined the Rainbow division and was with that unit in all its campaigns. After a tour with the army of occupation he again resigned a regular army commission, this one of captain, and became affiliated with the Ohio National Guard as a major. In 1926 he graduated at the head of his class at the commamd and general staff school, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and also completed a course at the Army's war college in Washington. His academic record here was so impressive that the Army kept him on for four years as a member of the war plan division of the general staff.

He has two children, both by a former marriage, Lieutenant Beightler and Marjorie Ann, who is now Mrs. Richard I. Taylor, Jr., of Columbus. A brother, Charles S. Beightler, a 1922 graduate of the United States naval academy, is a commander in the regular Navy on sea duty.

He was, before induction, highway director for Ohio, and is an engineer by profession. He is a warm, personal friend of Gov. John W. Bricker and most any fall Saturday, when there isn't a war on you'll see him sitting and standing alternately in Ohio stadium rooting like mad for the football gladiators of his alma mater.

This man who has disciplined himself as well as the men of the Buckeye division in the making of a great fighting machine, was not found wanting when the safety of his state and his nation was imperiled. The Pearl Harbor day headache found him and his division ready to take the field against any of the country's enemies.

Someone once said something about England's wars being won on the playing fields of Eton. General Beightler agrees with that immortal statement but adds "don't overlook the months and years of the drudgery of training, training and more training."

This is the man who has led "Ohio's own" to victory and the Japs haven't heard the last of the 37th division.

FERGUSON ORDERS PROBE OF SEC. HUMMEL'S AID

Purchase of Index Cards Also Under Investigation.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson announced today he had begun an investigation of the employment of a special investigator by Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel and the purchase by Hummel of index cards.

Hummel told newsmen he had a "perfect right to employ a special examiner if I want to" and added: "I have nothing to hide or to shield."

The special investigator, Ferguson said, is George S. Houston, a consulting engineer of Cincinnati, employed by Hummel last July 1 at a salary of $300 a month. Hummel admitted to newsmen that Houston was one of his largest campaign contributors.

Ferguson said the other phase of the investigation revolved around Hummel's purchase for $975 of 21,600 index cards from the Control Visible Index Co. of Cincinnati.

Payment for the cards as well as Houston's pay check has been ordered held up.

British Shoot Down U. S. Transport Plane

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31 — British fighter planes from an aircraft carrier shot down a U. S. Army transport airplane and its crew of six by error in the Atlantic this week, the war department and the British admiralty jointly today.

The fighters were protecting an allied convoy, said the announcement, and apparently mistook the four-engine C-54 transport plane for a German Focke-Wulf 200 bomber when identification was not established as the transport plane approached the convoy.

There were no passengers on the plane, which was loaded with cargo. It was flown by a civilian contract crew, all of whom were lost.

CHAPLIN RECALLED TO STAND TODAY

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, March 31—White-haired Charlie Chaplin was recalled to the witness stand today to enact one of the most dramatic roles of his long, colorful career—a further denial of government charges he transported his former protegee, Joan Berry, to New York and back for immoral purposes.

The 54-year-old comedian's first day on the stand was climaxed by one big moment that rivaled in tenseness that of Miss Berry's final day of testimony last Friday when she neared collapse as the defense introduced some of her letters to him.

Tears welled in Chaplin's eyes and he dabbed at them with a handkerchief as he related yesterday that the 24-year-old Miss Berry, armed with a pistol, came to his Beverly Hills home one night and said: "I'm going to kill you."

Earlier, he vigorously denied Miss Berry's previous claim that they had been intimate both in the film actor's suit at New York's Waldorf-Astoria hotel in October, 1942, and following her return to California.

These claims by her are the basis of the Government's two Mann act violation charges against Chaplin.

Chaplin, the great comic mime of silent picture days, gestured frequently as he testified in tones that rang through the courtroom.

Alternately he turned to his attorney, Gerry Giesler, the jury and to Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor.

Nattily attired and the cynosure of a packed courtroom, Chaplin testified Miss Berry broke into his home the night of Dec. 23, 1942, threatened to kill him with a pistol she flourished, and later said she was going to kill herself.

She refused to leave, the actor declared, and finally he permitted her to spend the night in a room separated from his by a bathroom and a door he said he locked himself.

The next morning, the witness said, she departed, leaving the gun, after he gave her $50 and promised her more.

Chaplin denied Miss Berry's allegations that in September, 1942, shortly before her New York trip, he had asked her if she would like to go to New York with him.

Paroled Star Returns for Reformatory Show

By The Associated Press

MARYSVILLE, O., March 31—The theater has such a hold on Nellie "Blondie" Pounds that she has returned to prison to exercise her talents.

Miss Pounds was the Negro star with blond (peroxided) hair who wowed the spectators in "Fall Festival," an all-girl musical show staged by the Ohio women's reeformatory last November.

Supt. Marguerite Reilley decided to put on another show as a Red Cross benefit but "Blondie" was missing. She was paroled three weeks ago.

As the curtain went up last night on "Patriotic Frolics," the current production, the Negro actress was on the stage. She had returned to participate as a guest star—not as a guest of the state.

The Ferrying Command of the Army Air Forces was established in May, 1941.

Taxes Go Up on "Fools" Day

April 1 Just Date on Calendar To Treasury Department.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31 — "...The first day of April, a day on which playful tricks and impositions are practiced."

That's Webster's definition of All Fools day, but not the treasury's.

Beginning at midnight tonight a lot of new taxes go into effect, and no fooling.

The origin of the new taxes is a little $2,315,000,000 revenue number that became law recently over the veto of President Roosevelt, who said it was inadequate and inequitable.

The new excise rates will yield an estimated $1,000,000,000 or more a year.

The balance of the additional revenue comes from higher postal rates that went into effect last Sunday and from changes in individual and corporation income taxes.

More than half the increased take will come from steeper liquor levies; a $9-a-gallon impost on hard liquors compared with the present $6 rate; the new $8-a-barrel beer tax, and wine increases ranging from 33 1/3 to 100 per cent cent.

Here in summary form are the principle tax changes:

Old Rate	New Rate
Admissions
1 cent a dime	1 cent a nickel
Boxes, Seats and Ticket "Scalpers"
11 per cent	20 per cent
Cabaret Charges

Sunday May Bring Answer To Question of Marion Baseball

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., March 31—Joe Donnelly, president of the Ohio State Baseball league, said today there would be no decision before Sunday as to whether an operator can be found to attempt to bring Marion back into the league's fold for the 1944 season.

Donnelly said Dale Miller, former secretary of the Indianapolis American Association team who had expressed an interest in the Marion franchise, was unable to meet with him yesterday but had promised to attend the league meeting at Columbus Sunday.

Hank Rigney, Toledo baseball promoter, and another possibility as operator of the Marion franchise, also is expected to attend the Sunday meeting.

Marion is the only proposed city in the six-club circuit for which an operator has not been found. Some doubt was expressed at Marion as to whether financial backing could be found there for the club.

Donnelly said he expected a decision early next week on a proposal that the St. Louis Cardinals use the Lima team as a farm club. Donnelly now is operating the Lima franchise and had planned to go independently if major league support could not be obtained.

The Cardinal chain this year includes only one Class D team—Johnson City, Tenn., in the Appalachian league.

Africa, with 20 per cent of the area of the world, has about 7.5 per cent of the population.

COLORADO SPRINGS, C March 31—Gov. Bricker of Ohio believes a standard international exchange will be needed to foster post-war trade.

The Republican presidential aspirant, concluding a swing through the state with an address here last night, told a rally that after the war there must be a "stabilized currency and a restored faith in it."

"That means," he added, "that we will have to take away from the President the power to take away a piece of the American dollar whenever he chooses. And there will have to be a standard international exchange with a constant understanding throughout the world on the relative values of the currencies, instead of a competitive valuation among the nations."

Bricker also declared every effort should be made to prevent confusion in American industry when plants reconvert from wartime to peacetime work.

To aid the return to normal business after hostilities end surplus war materials and commodities should be fed into regular trade channels slowly and carefully, the Ohio chief executive asserted.

He again criticized the administration for what he termed its failure to keep the public fully informed on all matters except those which would give information to the enemy.

Th governor was asked if he believed the United States should keep troops stationed continuously in foreign lands after the war.

"Just as soon as the war is won," Bricker said, "and there is stabilized government abroad, every American soldier ought to be brought back to America."

Asked if he felt there was a tendency to delay the winning of the war until after the election, Bricker replied.

"Oh, no. I think everyone wants to win the war as soon as possible.

SGT. HEIMLICH HOME FROM CASSINO FRONT

Soldier from Near Cardington in Hard Fighting.

CARDINGTON — Master Sgt. Ivan Heimlich is home visiting his father of southwest of Cardington after spending 19 months in North Africa, Sicily and Italy. He was accompanied here by his wife, the former Mrs. Joseph Eschelbach of Red Bank, N. J., whom he married Aug. 15, 1942 just two days before receiving his orders for duty over seas.

Sgt. Heimlich joined the army seven years ago and spent four years at Fort Monmouth, N. J. After two years in other sections of this country he left for Great Britain in the fall of 1942. He was a member of the signal corps battalion and in one of the first waves to land in Oran. He saw service in the Kasserine Pass, Sbeitla area and then went to Sicily. After the Sicilian campaign the corps crossed the Messina straits and joined troops in Naples where they were moved into position to relieve other corps, and from there into the Cassino fighting when orders came through for his corps to report to headquarters and received the word that they were going home after 19 months service.

He has earned three combat stars, a good conduct medal and an American defense bar. Sgt. Heimlich states that in his estimation in comparing the three battle fronts that the African battle was bad but could not compare with the Italian campaign. He reports that in Africa the corps lives in places which were alive with mines, in Sicily the mines were mostly in the valleys, while in Italy they had everything. The sergeant said it takes a lot of men to get one man out of a foxhole in the Cassino sector and a very slow job. He said town after town in Italy has been blown to bits and that he could not get used to seeing so many buildings here in the states being whole and having roofs on them.

Softball Commission Elects New Officers at Annual Dinner

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

The election of a new president, T. H. McKenney, district softball commissioner, and vice president, Elmer Smith, county clerk of courts, and the selection of four city commission members, three new and one reelected, featured the 1944 Marion softball banquet in the assembly room of the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Marion Mewhorter, Y. M. C. A. program director, was appointed to serve his second year as commission secretary and Roy Waddell, who has been commission treasurer since the origin of the body here almost 20 years ago, was unanimously chosen to be treasurer for the coming season.

Election of the four commission officers came at a meeting of the commission after the banquet. The one commissioner reelected is Mr. Smith, the new vice president. Three new faces will appear on the commission this summer—as Paul Rice, Lowell Cook and Mr. McKenney were elected by representatives of the various city league teams at the banquet last night.

Mr. McKenney succeeds as president Elmer Shaw, city auditor, who assumed the presidential duties last year after Anson Pickerel, commission head for several seasons, tendered his resignation. As commissioner for this district of the state softball association, McKenney directed the district tournament at Lincoln park here last August. It was decided at the post-banquet commission confab to hold final organization meeting for the 1941 season at the Y next week. Mr. McKenney expressed his hope that entire commission of 12 members would be able to attend this meeting, at which the opening date for the coming season will be determined along with new policies, in regard to player eligibility and action of managerial suggestions made at the banquet last night.

Among the Proposals

Of the more prominent suggestions made by team managers and players at the banquet were:

1. To throw the city softball leagues this summer "wide open" as concerns player eligibility. It was brought out that the personnel status of all teams this year will vary throughout the schedule because the draft gobbling up manpower. Mewhorter explained that a relaxation of eligibility rules proved successful in the Y. M. C. A.-sponsored county basketball league this winter and that a similar procedure in softball might be advisable.

2. To have at least two leagues this summer—the Industrial and Sunday school. Players were unanimous in declaring there should be at least two nights a week of league softball this year. Rather than operate three loops, it was suggested that the Commercial circuit, which ran with two teams last year, be disbanded and its players be made eligible for competition in the other two leagues.

3. To work out a system whereby the three regularly-used city softball diamonds could be whipped into good playing shape before the season opener in May and be maintained in such condition for the entire season. It was pointed out that all three parks—Lincoln, McKinley and Garfield—were in poor shape for most of last season, Lincoln finally being fixed up at the time of the district tournament Marion Little World Series.

4. To map out a definite preseason practice schedule. Several players complained of many mixups in the scheduling of practices before the season started last year and suggested this be avoided this year by careful planning.

10 Teams Now Ready

Mr. Shaw, who served as banquet toastmaster, stated that 10 teams have signified their willingness to enter teams in city leagues this summer. Only one team entered last year will not be in the loops this season, if a canvass of the outfits represented at the banquet last night is any criterion. That team is Coca-Cola, which won the Commercial league title last year. However, most of the players who performed for Coca-Cola last year probably will register with another local firm which has indicated it would like to sponsor a squad this season. Two other prospective new entrants are the Barq Bottling Co. and Old Fort Mills.

When asked by Mr. Shaw what type of a team they would field this year, some managers, especially those in the Sunday school league, said they would be fortunate enough to scrape together enough players. However, these players probably will be "senior and junior high school boys," perhaps some even younger, as was the case in the church circuit last year.

Guests Introduced

John Clark gave the invocation, after which dinner was served to the some 30 local softballers. Guests introduced were Mr. McKenney and John Ruth, city safety-service director. Following these introductions was the presentation of the 1943 city softball championship pennants. To Universal Cooler, represented by Manager Bill Darnell, went the pennants for winning the Industrial and city titles. Coca-Cola, represented by Watt Merchant received the Commercial league bunting. Epworth's pnnant for taking th 1943 Sunday school league crown was awarded by Mr. Shaw to John Clark, the dean of Marion softball. In making the award, Shaw said, "Here's' another one of these for you, John.

A talk on some sidelights in the 100-year-old history of baseball was given by Earl N. Hale, executive secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Hale gave some colorful "backstage." little-known facts concerning some of baseball's immortals, including Christy Mathewson, Ty Cobb, Abner Doubleday, the game's founder, and Rube Waddell. He told of some of the exploits of the Cincinnati Red Stockings, the first professional baseball team in America.

Others up for the four commissioners' positions were Ray Smallwood, W. P. Freshour, Carl Detwiler, John Marshall and Harold Smith. Commissioners whose terms xpired this spring were Ray Smallwood, Elmer Smith, Robert Kelly and Leo Keller.

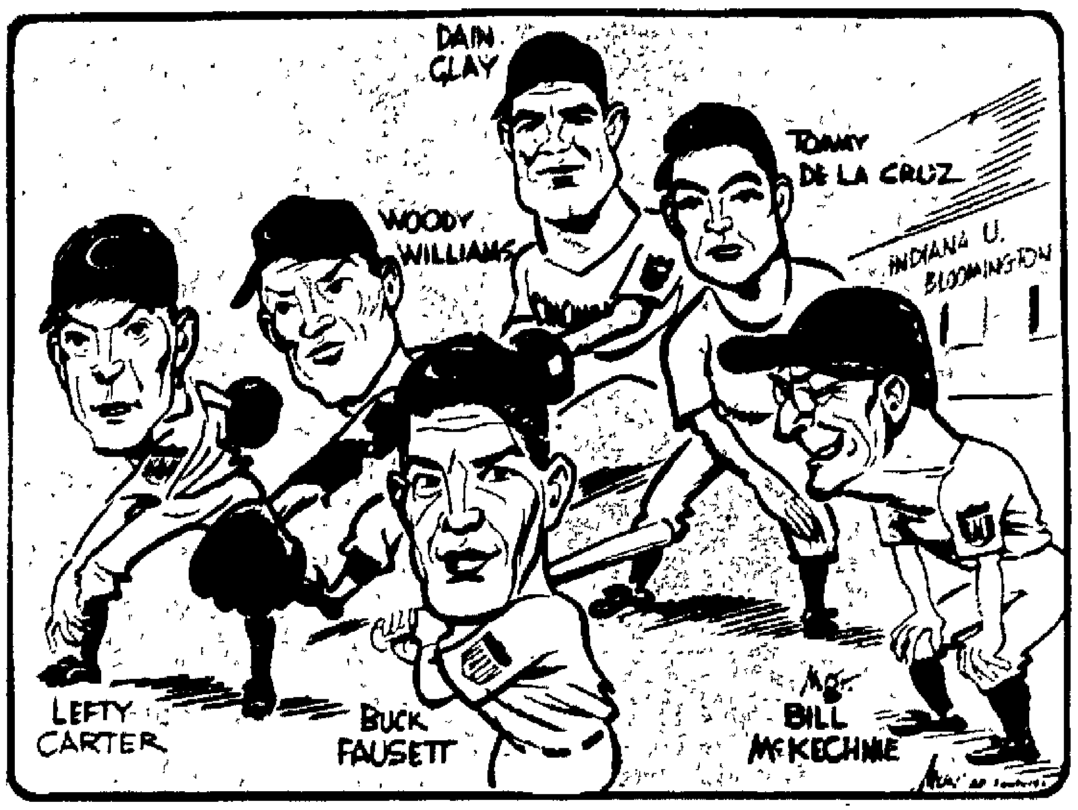
McKechnie Wants His Pitchers To Relax



By CHIP ROYAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — The postman is ringing every hour at the Reds' Spring headquarters. It seems that every other mother's son, who isn't hurling bombs for Uncle Sam, wants to toss a horsehide for Cincinnati.

There is only one answer to the mail deluge. The boys know that this will be a pitcher's year, and that Manager Bill McKechnie is an ace when it comes to juggling flingers into championships.

This seems as good a time as any to find out how the Deacon does it. What are his secrets for a winning staff? But, first of all, who are the young hopefuls who will receive the master's attention this year?

Two Syracuse Stars

There are two very important (as far as the Reds are concerned) newcomers. The roster lists them as Tomas de la Cruz and Arnold Carter.

De la Cruz, a Cuban, was a 21-game winner last year for Syracuse. The dark right-hander had six shutouts, beat Newark twice in the playoffs, one a 3-hit shutout, and blanked Toronto in the Governor's Cup finals.

Carter, a southpaw, also with Syracuse, sewed up the Governor's Cup for the Chiefs by limiting the Leafs to six hits, and scored the winning run of the 2-0 score himself after beating out an infield hit. Lefty applied seven whitewashes for the season in chalking up 14 wins.

Now, how does McKechnie handle pitchers like de la Cruz, Carter and others?

"Well, I start working with my pitchers as soon as they report to see that they have the right mental attitude," says Bill.

"Relaxation is very important to a pitcher. I stress that at all times," continues McKechnie. "Then I teach them to throw hard, and get the ball over the plate. I try to make them coordinate their motion and get the whole body into the pitch.

"One of the first things I tell a young pitcher is to develop one delivery. That's all he needs. When they try to fool the batters with sidearm, overhand, and other pitches, they are only fooling themselves."

Bill always keeps an eye on his moundsmen whether it be in training or during the season. Whenever a little fault crops up, the Deacon takes the hurler aside and tries to correct the trouble.

"I don't believe in pitchers rotating during the season either," says Bill. "Some are better than others against a certain club. I pitch them when I think they can win. They don't need regular turns.

Weather A Factor

"Often, the weather has a lot to do with a pitcher. I talk to my men, find out how they feel, and remember what they have done before under similar conditions.

"When I see a pitcher is losing a game because the club is having a bad day in the field, I take him out. I can't take the infielders out, but I can save the pitcher.

"It's going to be tough on the pitchers this year though. They won't be taken out as often because when the draft boards get through shaping the pennant fight, we won't have too many left. It will be a battle of teams instead of squads, and the race will go to the strongest."

If Mr. McKechnie has his way, it will be the Reds.

UTES CARRY U. S. CAGE TITLE HOME

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31—Two weeks ago today Utah's basketball kids mournfully headed home from here, eliminated in the first round of the national invitation tourney.

Today they packed their bags for the same long trip, but this time as the toasts of the town and kings of the county's cagers.

Last night, before 18,125 fans who paid $35,000 which was turned over to the Red Cross, the Blitz Kids stormed to a 43-36 victory over St. John's of Brooklyn in Madison Square Garden.

St. John's won the invitation tourney in which the Utes stumbled over Kentucky in the opening game. Then Utah got a chance to get into the national collegiate meet when Arkansas dropped out, and battled its way to the title. Dartmouth's 17-game winning streak was halted by the team of destiny as it grabbed the crown.

The first half last night ended 19-19. Ten minutes after the second session got under way Utah was out in front by six, and then spurted to victory after St John's pulled up to 36-34.

ROLL OWN ASPIRIN

NEW ORLEANS—Albert Lauve, head of the pharmacy department at Charity hospital, said his assistants manufacture some 3,500,000 pills a year for hospital use. Lauve estimated that by producing the hospital's glucose alone, his department saves $180 a day. His idea of a restful, soothing sight after watching pills hop jerkily from a pill machine at the rate of 6,000 an hour, is a batch of golden-smooth cough syrup. "It's a hard job," he said. "Very exacting. But then, we make our own aspirin."

Trautman Certain Weatherman Not A Baseball Fan

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31—George M. Trautman, president of the American association, is convinced the weather man is not a baseball fan, but he has lost none of his optimism about the 1944 season.

"Things don't look any worse now than they did before we started," Trautman said. "Even the most pessimistic of our operators aren't any more pessimistic."

Trautman conceded, however, that bad weather was retarding the training of players, particularly those on clubs which do not have big fieldhouses available for indoor workouts. He expressed belief that association magnates need have no worries about attendance this year.

Early reports, he continued, indicate "the people want to go to baseball games and as far as the fans are concerned I don't believe we have anything to worry about."

Several clubs have been handicapped in their training by the failure of veterans to report. Trautman expressed belief this occurred because players didn't want to give up good paying off-season jobs until absolutely necessary. Baseball players' salaries don't start until the season opens.

ATHLETICS LEADING HITTER BRINGS OWN BAT TO PRACTICE

.259 with A's Estalella Rates .336 Average in Cuban League.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31 — He brought along his own bat from home this year—did Roberto (Bobby) Estalella, Philadelphia Athletics outfielder who hit a rousing .259 last season.

And don't laugh at that .259, for it was tops for the team's regulars. And Roberto wants to remain tops—that's why he brought along the war club with which he bludgeoned his way this winter to a .336 average in the Cuban league.

A quick look at training camps:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Washington—Cuban Luis Aurez looks like winner of third base sweepstakes.

Chicago—Hal Trosky, who quit two years ago because of headaches after averaging .313 and hitting 216 homers in nine years for Cleveland, makes debut under Jommy Dykes Saturday as White Sox meet Pittsburgh at Louisville.

St. Louis—Luke Sewell finally has three outfielders — Frank Demaree, who has been ill; Harold Epps, 1-A but willing to play a while, and Milton Byrnes.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Pittsburgh—Frankie Frisch said only zero weather could keep Pirates from outdoor workout today. Said boys needed preparation for Saturday clash with White Sox.

Wet Grounds May Cease To Be Cause of Game Cancellations

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, March 31—"Game postponed, wet grounds," may disappear from baseball language if a chemically-treated resin combination developed by a powder company performs as well on the baseball diamond as it has for the armed forces.

It makes soil waterproof. Roads treated with the substance remain dusty even though covered with several inches of water, and Theodore Marvin, of the Hercules Powder company, thinks it will do the same thing for basepaths, pitcher's mounds, and batters' boxes.

"Of course we can't tell for certain how the substance will work in ball parks because we've been busy developing it for the army, but we'll soon know," Marvin said in an interview.

"The Wilmington, Del., park of the inter-state league is being treated this week. Judging from the rain the Phillies encountered in spring training there, our product should get a rigid test."

This resin combination is a dry powder which is mixed [illegible] previously pulverized soil. The soil then is rolled, resulting [illegible] a waterproof surface retaining the same characteristics as the original soil.

"Until it rains, nobody can tell the difference in the appearance of the soil that has been treated," Marvin said. "But after the rain groundskeepers will be able to sweep the basepaths dry."

Only parts of the infield not covered by grass can be treated, he pointed out. Soil stabilization prevents any moisture from reaching roots.

EXPERTS PICK JACK TO BEAT ZURITA

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31—This little 10-round punching party in Madison Square Garden tonight, between Juan Zurita of Mexico and Beau Jack of Georgia, has the boys guessing, although the bounding ex-bootblack from the sunny southland is a 1-3 favorite.

The experts, in picking Beau, sum up their reasons with:

"We've seen the Beau go, and when he goes, he goes. We haven't seen Zurita, except in the training ring, so we'll have to pick Jack * * *."

Zurita, until he batted out a 15-round decision on the coast March 8 to take the NBA version of the lightweight crown from Sammy Angott, was just another better than average club fighter. He makes his first eastern start tonight.

Beau Jack is making his third main-go appearance of the month in the Garden.

After yesterday's final workouts Beau Jack, who twice had held the New York version of the lightweight laurels, weighed 136¼, while his Mexican rival weighed 133.

Indians Pitching Staff Gets Another Recruit

By The Associated Press

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 31—The Cleveland Indians had an unexpected addition to their pitching department today with word that Charles (Red) Embree was enroute to camp from his California home.

Embree hurled for the Indians in 1942 after striking out 211 batters for an Eastern league record while with Wilkes-Barre the previous season. He showed much promise but remained out of baseball last year. He was rejected last week by his draft board.

Jim Devlin, 21-year-old catching recruit from the Wilkes-Barre farm reported yesterday after ending his salary dispute with the front office.

WEATHER BLOCKS REDS

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 31—Weather and so forth permitting, the Cincinnati Reds amuse themselves with intra-squad games today and tomorrow and whip up some competitive spirit for the five-game series with the Cleveland Indians starting Sunday in Indianapolis. Manager Will McKechnie is giving young pitchers a deal of attention, especially Tomas De La Cruz and Arnold Carter, who probably will pitch the first game against the Indians.

Bozzell Wins From Knox in Armory Show

Paul Bozzell won a two-hour main event last night in wrestling matches at the Armory. Bozzell took two falls from Knox. Knox won his single fall in 11 minutes with a step over toe hold. Bozzell won the second fall with a crab hold in four minutes. Another crab hold won him the match in six minutes.

In a one-hour semi-final bout Gil LaCross won from Jackie Nichols with two falls. Nichols missed a try with a drop kick. Then LaCross took Nichols down in 12 minutes with a body press. He won his second fall in eight minutes with a body slam and body press.

Steve Nenoff won a 30-minute one-fall match from Angelo Martinelli in 15 minutes with a body slam and body press.

SALVATION ARMY FORMS WARTIME PROJECT GROUP

Women To Meet Weekly, Work on Books and Games.

Approximately 25 Marion women met with women officers of the Salvation Army Thursday at the citadel on North Prospect street to organize a group to carry out a wartime entertainment project for men and women of the armed forces in hospitals, service clubs and centers.

At meetings to be held each Thursday evening from 8 to 9 o'clock the women will assemble cross word puzzles, compile serial stories, fashion "Chuckle Books" from humerous cartoons and sayings, to be distributed through the Salvation Army, to men and women in the hospitals and centers.

"It will require lots of material, a great deal of time and many cheerful helpers to carry out the project," Captain Mary Nisiewicz, officer in charge of the Marion Corps, said today, in discussing the plan. "We are especially inviting the young women, both married and single, whose husbands, brothers and friends are serving with the armed forces," she stated.

Miss Gertrude Click was named leader for the group. Meeting with the women were Mrs. Major Ruth Zealley, who with her husband, Major Harold Zealley is in command of the southwest Ohio and northeast Kentucky division of the Salvation Army, Mrs. Major Alice Gibson, divisional life saving organizer for girls and Mrs. Major Robina McCormick, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Brigadier Albert Pickering of Columbus.

BROODER HOUSE DAMAGED

A brooder house sheltering about 200 baby chicks caught fire Thursday afternoon at the home of Donald Mayse of 487 Decatur street. The blaze, caused by an overheated stove, spread to the floor of the building. All of the chicks were saved and loss was estimated at about $10. Firemen from the East Mark street station and the quad unit from Central answered the alarm at 3:24 p. m.

BIRTHDAY TRIBUTE GIVEN EVANGELIST

Choir Makes Floral Presentation To Gipsy Smith.

As a tribute to Gipsy Smith, the evangelist conducting the Gipsy Smith union evangelistic mission in Epworth Methodist church, the union choir presented to him at the service Thursday night and to Mrs. Smith a bouquet of flowers in honor of his eighty-fourth birthday anniversary today. Prof. J. W. Yoder of Huntingdon, Pa., song leader for the mission, made the presentation and the choir sang.

"Three and a Half Years in the Mud and Blood of France" was the evangelist's subject Thursday night and he told of his experiences as a Y. M. C. A. worker among English soldiers in World war I. Rev. E. M. Hertzler made announcements, prayer was led by Rev. T. A. Ballinger of the Green Camp Methodist church. An offertory number was sung by the choir and Mrs. Smith, wife of the evangelist, presented a solo. Mrs. J. W. Baker accompanied singing. Veterans of the war in the audience were asked to stand and were honored with a round of applause.

From his experiences with thousands of soldiers gathered in the Y. M. C. A. huts of France or on the battlefields and in "no man's land" the evangelist said he discovered "men will believe in a religion of service when they do not believe in a religion of words." Wherever he went, he declared, counseling the men, comforting the homesick, talking to them of Christ and Christian courage, leading them in singing, helping them to write home, aiding in relief of suffering, doing many and varied tasks for them, he found among them no room for skepticism, infidelity, cynicism or unkindness. "The gospel works when you're close to the gates of death," he told his audience.

"Boys everywhere prayed," he emphasized. "They realized their need for a religious experience that excluded sin and selfishness. They knew how to live and how to die. Sin is the fear of death. When sin is out the sting of death is gone. Those men knew confidence in Christ at the worst moment of their lives. As they said 'Goodbye' to me, going out to face the blood and slaughter of 'no man's land,' they sang gloriously the hymn 'Forever With the Lord'." He ended with the plea to the audience, "Will you stand, as did those boys, and pledge your lives for Christ?"

The evangelist will give the story of his life, "From Gipsy Tent to Pulpit," at the service tonight. It was announced a special "birthday offering" will be taken for him at tonight's meeting.

SYMPATHY STRIKERS MEETING IN LORAIN

By The Associated Press

LORAIN, O., March 31—Representatives of 11 AFL craft unions whose members left their jobs in sympathy with a walkout of the electricians union met today to decide whether to continue their work stoppage at the Lorain yards of the American Ship Building Co.

The walkout of all but 100 of the yard's 4,000 employes caused postponement of the scheduled launching tomorrow of the U. S. S. Milledgeville, a frigate designed for escort and patrol work.

Morton D. Barrisch, assistant disputes director of the regional war labor board, reported the WLB had received jurisdiction in the case but would await developments at the union meeting before taking any action.

Federal Labor Conciliator Thomas W. Robertson said the men apparently left their jobs in protest against the discharge of several members of the electrician's union which is demanding an 11-cent hourly wage premium for men assigned to test electrical equipment of new vessels.

KILLED BY AUTO

NEWARK, O., March 31—John Wagner, 82, of nearby Frazeysburg, died last night after he was struck by an automobile near his home, State Highway Patrolman F. J. Belner reported.

Transport and ferry systems of the Air Transport Command of the Army Air Forces now extend over about 110,000 miles of routes.

SOLDIERS' MORALE HIGH, VORYS FINDS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31 — Rep. John M. Vorys (R) of Columbus, O., back from a three-week tour of the European war fronts, says the average American soldier's morale is high and he wants to get the war over as soon as possible and come back to the "kind of country he fought for."

The Ohio congressman yesterday told newsmen American soldiers are "not much interested in politics. They are expecting to do the fighting and are counting on the rest of us to get them back after the war to the kind of country they fought for and make plans so that it will not happen again."

He said there was much misunderstanding of conditions back home, asserting it "was news to many I talked with in Britain and in North Africa that we were rationed on meat, sugar, shoes, gasoline, etc."

The Ohioan added that if the United Nations "can agree on the conditions we will impose upon unconditional surrender of the Nazis we will shorten the war."

Vorys declared congress should take part in determining foreign policy.

Vorys, a member of the house foreign affairs committee, maintained silence on the purposes of his trip made with Rep. Joseph C. Baldwin (R-NY).

Of post-war planning, he said:

"If we are to get along in the future we have got to cooperate with the British and also look out for ourselves."

G. O. P. Committee Votes Confidence in Schorr

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31—The Republican state central and executive committee yesterday unanimously gave state Chairman Ed D. Schorr a vote of confidence after hearing Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert's recent criticism of Schoor described as "unfair and unwarranted."

The attorney general had asserted Schorr was using his position as party chairman to foster the gubernatorial candidacy of Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati. Herbert also demanded that the chairman resign until after the primary campaign.

Herbert also is seeking the Republican nomination for governor.

In presenting a resolution asking the vote of confidence, the committee's retiring Secretary Nolan Boggs of Toledo, said the attorney general's charges were "unfair and unwarranted."

Kiwanis Club Members See Hospital Addition

Members of Kiwanis club were taken on a tour of the new wing at City hospital yesterday noon during time normally devoted to a program. The tour was arranged by Louis E. Michel, program chairman, in cooperation with the hospital board.

Mrs. Margaret Bradbury, hospital superintendent, and nurses conducted the tour and explained uses of rooms and equipment in the new addition. The trip followed luncheon at Hotel Harding. Members were transported to the hospital in one of the large buses operated by the Marion Rapid Transit Co.

Russell C. Snare, Harry L. Dowler and A. W. Keitt, members of the hospital planning board are Kiwanis members. Three other men included the group were guests at yesterday's meeting. They are Walter A. Dorsey, Dr. E. L. Brady and C. O. Brown. Other guests were T. A. Marshall of Cleveland, John Hare of Ada, O., and Fred C. Cory of Marion.

Union Council To Elect Chairman April 5

At a meeting of United Steelworkers Local No. 1949 of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. last Sunday announcement was made that notice will be posted in the shop regarding election of delegates to the constitutional convention of the union May 9-14 in Cleveland. The local Industrial council will elect a new chairman April 5 with the required presence of all delegates of Local 1949. The speaker was William Belt of Mansfield, national officials, who gave an account of the progress of union affairs. Installation was held for Paul Keller who was elected treasurer and for Percy Breece, trustee. The lodge stood at attention for one minute in honor of two members who died in service recently, Sgt. Donald Buckley and Sgt. Lee Welsh. Members voted to purchase three $100 war bonds.

Landon Asks End Of Roosevelt Dynasty

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA, Kan., March 31—Alf M. Landon pleaded today for a Republican presidential nominee able to work with congress and replace President Roosevelt who, he said, was determined "to establish himself in the White House for life."

Landon, former Kansas governor and the party's 1936 nominee, said the Republican presidential choice this year must "be able to inspire trust at home and abroad in his ability to do teamwork with the congress" and "command overwhelming confidence in his determination and ability to end promptly the confusion of red-tape bureau-made laws, bureaucratic control of business, farming and labor, that are interfering with our war efforts."

In an address prepared for a Republican state convention, Landon said the party's 1944 platform must be "definite, unequivocal, courageous and forward-looking."

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

IT SEEMED an eternity, although it was but a few seconds, before the two men in military uniforms came up to us and gave Shumway a signal to draw his car to the side of the road and stop. He promptly complied, and the men, who I saw belonged to the Coast Guard, of whom we have many on the eastern section of Long Island, came up to the side of the car and addressed Shumway directly.

"What's your name and business?"

Replies

"Peter Shumway," the taxi man replied, "and I drive a taxi. My headquarters are Sag Harbor."

"Let's see your driving license and license for your car, also any other identification."

Shumway produced the documents. The Coast Guard man looked them over, and returned them without any comment.

"They're all in order, ain't they?" Shumway ventured.

"If they weren't you'd have heard from us," the guardsman said, without looking at him. Then he opened the door of the compartment where I sat.

"I'm afraid I'll have to ask you to get out for a minute, madam," he said courteously. "We won't keep you long."

He held out his hand to help me down. As soon as I was out of the car, he and his friend rubbed their hands over the cushions, and over the floor.

"Seems okay," the second man said, and the first man nodded, and held out his hand to me.

"You may get back in now, Madam," he said. "We'll want to ask you some questions a little later." He helped me back into the car and then spoke again to Shumway.

Trunk

"Your trunk locked?"

"No. D'ye want me to open it?"

"No. Stay where you are."

They rummaged in the trunk while an insistent question careened around in my brain. Why were the cushions of the car dry while the rug had been wet? If the clothing of Hugh and Lee Chow had been wet enough to drip upon the floor, the cushions would certainly have been soaked.

But I had to put the question aside for a while for the men were returning, and the first was opening the door.

"May we ask your name, please?"

"Mrs. Richard Graham. I live on a farm about a mile from here, half a mile back to the corner, half a mile down the dirt road."

"Thank you- Have you any identification about you?"

I opened my wallet and gave them my driving license, my calling card, my food ration books, and an envelope enclosing a letter I recently had received from Lillian. He inspected them all meticulously, then handed them back.

Question

"Where are you going?" he asked next.

"To Easthampton, to the library, and to do some shopping which I can do only there."

"I see," he said. "Now, one last question. Have you seen any men in clothing dripping wet, anywhere along the road today?"

I appeased the remnants of my Puritan conscience with the thought that at least I could answer this question truthfully. Hugh and Lee Chow had not been on the road when I welcomed them.

"Clothing dripping wet?" I repeated as if puzzled at the question. "No, I haven't. In fact I haven't seen anybody along the road since I started out."

"That's all," the guard said, closing the door. "How about you, Shumway? Have you seen any dripping wet men along your route today?"

"Not a sing of one," Shumway said. "But, say, what's this all about, anyway?"

"That doesn't concern you," the guardsman said bluntly as he scribbled something on a card which he thrust into Shumway's hands.

"Show that to anybody else who stops you," he said. "Now get going."

He and his companion started out again in the direction of Sag Harbor, and Shumway started the car. But before he drove away, he heaved a relieved sigh.

"Gee, that was close! And you did mighty good, for a woman."

"Thank you," I said ironically. "But, tell me, why weren't those cushions wet?"

"I thought you'd be asking that" he chuckled. "I used to haul a lot of people to the beaches, and they'd be coming back in wet bathing suits. So I always had big rubber blankets to tuck over my seats. Luckily they was in the trunk when I picked your friends up, so I used them to cover the seats. I didn't think the floor rug was very wet, so I left it on when I left the rubber blankets at home. But something told me I'd better change it, and I sure got under the wire just in time."

He began to drive faster, and my heart beats increased with his pace. Something menacing to Hugh and Lee Chow was afoot, I was sure of it, and the worst of it was that I was completely bewildered by the whole thing. And then, as we swung to the left into the Montauk road, I couldn't keep back an alarmed exclamation.

"Why, there are Coast Guard men strung out all along the road!" I said.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Tonsils

WE have been having a succession of parents come to our hospital, who want their child's tonsils and adenoids removed, so the child can have its nine-point health button at school. When they are told the child doesn't need its tonsils out they seem disappointed and frustrated and think something is wrong.

To begin with, the nine-point health program doesn't say a child is not healthy unless the tonsils are out. It says that the child should have a healthy throat. This means no abnormal redness, no pus can be expressed from the tonsils and no kernels (lymphnodes) can be felt under the skin around the jaw or down the neck.

But somehow from these examinations the tonsils get involved and doctors are constantly being asked to make an examination and give certificates that the child's throat needs no surgery and that it deserves a nine-point button.

I can remember not so long ago when throat specialists pretty generally thought every child's tonsils should come out just on general principles. That idea has, I think, happily been abandoned.

Nobody knows exactly what the functions of the tonsils and adenoids are. They are lymphatic structures, part of the lymphatic system all over the body, and one of the functions of the lymphatics is to fight infection. The tonsils are very large in a baby and this suggests that they protect the baby's sensitive bronchial tubes from infection by engulfing and destroying the germs that get in with the inspired air and with the food. This is, of course, dangerous sentry duty and the tonsils may engulf some germs they cannot kill and hence become the focal points for infection. And they are very subject to acute infection in the form of acute tonsillitis.

There is universal agreement that the tonsils can be removed without any permanent damage to the body economy.

But are those considerations enough to warrant routine removal of the tonsils in every school child? I do not know any children's specialist or throat specialist who would vote in the affirmative on that.

There are three possible indications for taking out the tonsils in children or adults:

One is recurrent attacks of acute tonsillitis.

Second is recurrent attacks of running ear or continuous running ears. This may be due to an infected tonsil or adenoid hanging over the end of the Eustachian tube.

Third is focal infection. Here the question comes up—do the tonsils actually harbor a focal infection? The big tonsils of a baby are very tempting to the inexperienced surgeon, but in a baby big tonsils alone do not mean infection. Later, say at the age of fifteen or twenty, if one can see the tonsils without instrumental aid when the patient's mouth is open it is presumptive evidence of infection, but the safest standard is to require that pus can be expressed from the tonsil before the diagnosis of focal infection is decided.

It used to be said that removal of tonsils was justified because it prevented rheumatic fever, but I notice in a recent medical symposium that children who have been followed up after tonsillectomy are found to have rheumatic fever just as often as those who still have their tonsils.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. B. T.: My son has had chickenpox and now has five marks which look very bad on his forehead. Is there anything I can do to make them disappear?

Answer: They may take as long as a year to go away, but they do. I know of nothing which will hasten the process.

D. M. B.: My daughter is left-handed. Do you think she could take piano lessons without harmful effect? (In piano playing most of the movements are done with the right hand).

Answer: I do not recommend training naturally left-handed children to become righthanded, because it may result in stuttering, but I do not believe piano playing would come in that category. Realizing that most of the movements are made with the right hand, still it is a bi-manual exercise.

G. D.: Will you please tell me if there is any danger of penetrating the ear drum by cleaning out the ear with a match?

Answer: Certainly. If you don't want to lose your hearing have a doctor clean out your ears.

A. S. K.: What characteristics in the appearnce of the stool would denote cancer in the intestinal tract? Would a complete laboratory and gastro-intestinal X-ray disclose such trouble? Would a competent physician readily recognize the trouble?

Answer: Stool is tarry, bloody, ribbon-like. Complete G. I. series should recognize cancer in the bowel. All competent physicians are fallible, but one should recognize this condition.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, April 1

THE LUNAR transits for this day accent personal, domestic and sentimental affairs, which will claim major attention, although there is fair fortune in connection with business, credit, and finance generally despite trivial anxieties. Take particular pains to sidestep misconstruction, treachery or fraud with correspondence, legal writings, and speech. Travel with caution, refrain from nervous strain.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a fairly happy and progressive year, with good luck, expanding finances and general stabilization of affairs, although there may be certain petty cares and anxieties. These may be due to carelessness with papers, writings or speech, subject to misconstruction, distortion or fraud. Suppress nervous strain and find enjoyment in domestic, social or sentimental relations.

A child born on this day, although nervous and emotionally high-strung, may enjoy a fairly lucky and pleasant career.

Portable pipe-lines, in light 20-foot sections, were used to transport fuel and water quickly in the United Nations' North African campaign.
